Youth Report Good

City Manager W. Raymert Miller told the Optimist Club today at the Rustic Rock that "Sikeston does not have any major youth delinquency problems. "I was surprised when I found that only a small percentage of traffic violations were caused by the young people of our community," he said.

Miller was introduced by program chairman, Larry Harshbarger, with president John Harber, in charge of the meeting. There were 48 attending the breakfast meeting with two guests Ervie McMillen and Charles Shurtliff, present.

The charter night committee will meet tonight at the First National Bank community room, to make plans for the Jan. 14 meeting, which will be a ladies night.

"We as parents are failing our children by not taking enough time to discuss today's problems with them," Miller said. "I have found that all children are eager to know about problems of our city. I find that many of them have built up animosity against the police department. If you will check you will find that it has been handed down to them by the parents.

"We elect five councilmen to run our city and the children have a right to know something about them. When I have an opportunity to speak to children, I find all of them eager to know about the city. They are curious and ask many questions. Police are not to be blamed for exercising their duties but are forced to carry out orders set by the laws of your city.

"As to the drinking habits and speeding violations of our youth they are small in comparison with adults. "With many parents owning two cars and a boat, and our youth driving at the age of 16, there is no wonder that too little time is given to sons and daughters. I want to emphasize that our youth here are not wild, they get their attitudes and habits from their parents."

The city manager said that the city is now talking with two companies about plant locations and that prospects for location are bright.

Guitars Taken From Tavern

CROWDER - Two electric guitars and one unamplified guitar valued at $300 were taken Sunday morning from Boots tavern, John Dennis, Scott county sherriff, said today.

The burglar knocked the glass out of a door, reached in and turned the latch. Also taken was a carton of cigarettes. The theft was discovered Sunday morning.

The largest truck terminal in the world is the Newark Union Motor Truck Terminal. It has 160 loading platforms and serves the huge New York - Northern New Jersey metropolitan area.

Allies Wipe out 509 Cong in 19-Day Hunt

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines, South Koreans and government forces have killed 509 Viet Cong in a 19-day hunt-and-kill operation near South Viet Nam's central coast, it was reported today.

Fighting on the ground elsewhere slackened.

The allied coastal operation in Quang Ngai Province, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon, began Nov. 7. Associated Press correspondent Bob Gassaway reported from operational headquarters in the 1st Corps area north of the combat zone that up to Sunday the Koreans and South Vietnamese forces reported they had killed 458 Communist guerrillas while the U. S. Marines reported killing 51.

The enemy mortar attacks were aimed at troops of the U.S. 4th and 25th Divisions in positions around the Plei Djereng Special Forces — Green Beret — camp in the central highlands about 240 miles north of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said in the first attack, North Vietnamese army regulars lobbed 25 mortar rounds at 4th Division troops about 18 miles from the Green Beret camp but all fell short. No U.S. casualties were reported.

The second enemy mortar attack came after sundown against troops of the 25th and 4th Divisions about four miles south of the camp. A spokesman said 24 enemy rounds were fired at a command post but all fell outside the defense permieter. Again there were no U.S. casualties, the spokesman said.

The U.S. Navy had a busy day Sunday, reporting that 7th Fleet destroyers and rocket ships fired more than 1,300 five-inch shells and rockets at targets in South Viet Nam. The targets included supply routes, storage areas and fortified positions, the Navy said.

There was still no word from the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands whether they would order a truce at Christmas and New Year's. The Viet Cong announced Saturday it would stop fighting for 48 hours on the Christmas weekend and for 48 hours over the New Year.

The giant B52s flew in from Guam and bombed the suspected site of the Viet Cong's Central Office of South Viet Nam in jungles of Tay Ninh Province near the Cambodian border. The province, northwest of Saigon, was the scene of the massive U.S. Operation Attleboro, a 43-day sweep which ended Saturday.

In the scattered ground actions today, a unit of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division reported killing six Viet Cong and capturing two in a 15-minute firefight 19 miles northwest of Tuy Hoa, on the coast.

A unit of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division reported killing six Viet Cong and capturing two in an hour - long skirmish 22 miles northwest of coastal Qui Nhon.

Across the country near the Cambodian frontier, a company of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division also reported six enemy killed in a 10-minute scrap 19 miles northwest of the U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Plei Djereng. This area has been the scene of sporadic fighting for two weeks and was hit by a B52 raid Sunday night for the sixth straight day.

The absence of any sizable ground fighting appeared to be another of the periodic lulls which occur in the Viet Nam war. U.S. officers said they saw no connection between the lull and the moves toward Christmas and New Year's truces.

U.S. headquarters reported no American casualties in the three light contacts Monday, nor were any U.S. losses reported in a series of small fights Sunday by units of the 25th Infantry Division. The infantrymen, operating 20 to 29 miles northwest of Saigon, reported killing 11 Viet Cong.

GAO to Keep Closer Tabs on Viet Spending

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The head of a U.S. government watchdog team said today his group soon will broaden its surveillance of the way American agencies handle a $25-billion effort in Viet Nam.

"We're going to look into anything and everything here," said Homer Anderson, manager of the two-month-old Saigon office of the General Accounting Office.

The GAO has 12 staff investigators in Saigon. Seven have been on special assignments since August, checking particularly on more than $800 million in construction contracts, the handling of the $700-million-a-year AID program, and persistent congestion in the Saigon port.

Anderson said the seven would return to Washington soon, leaving a permanent force of about five.

Until now, the GAO team has been bearing down on the auditing practices of the Agency of International Development and other U.S. bodies here. Now, said Anderson in an interview, the GAO team will broaden the scope of its surveillance.

Foreign Echo Stirs Brandt

BONN, Germany AP -- Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin said today he is concerned about foreign criticism of Kurt Georg Kiesinger, the Christian Democratic candidate for chancellor. The criticism has been based largely on Kiesinger's Nazi past.

Brandt's Social Democratic party has agreed in principle to go into a "grand coalition" under Kiesinger and Brandt is expected to take an important post.

"I am concerned about the echo from abroad," he said when asked about Kiesinger in an interview. "But there have also been some strongly exaggerated statements and I very much hope that in the foreseeable future this question will be regarded in a more sober way."

Brandt was originally quoted by a pro - Socialist press service as saying he was "not too concerned." The service later issued a correction, reversing the sense of the quotation.

Five Treated For Injuries

Traffic Deaths Hit 728

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A record holiday traffic death toll was set when 728 persons were killed in highway accidents during the four - day Thanksgiving weekend. Victims under 18 years of age numbered 125.

This compared with a non-holiday weekend two weeks ago when 546 died in traffic. Eighty - one were under 18.

Both 102-hour periods covered the span from 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, to midnight Sunday.

The record toll outstripped the former Thanksgiving holiday death record of 615 set during the four-day period last year, and the all-time traffic death record for a holiday, set during the 1965 Christmas period when 720 died in a 78-hour count.

Many accidents resulted in multiple fatalities, with two to five persons killed in a single crash. Five persons including two married couples died in one head-on collision near Dryden, N. Y., Saturday. Several four-death smashups were reported.

Sunday was by far the deadliest day with nearly 250 deaths. Apparently, the unusually mild, pleasant weather over most of the nation during the holiday lured unprecedented numbers of persons onto the highways. Millions crowded the roads going home on the last day of the weekend, many running into unfavorable weather conditions posed by widespread rain in the central section of the country, and some snow and freezing in the northern states.

The National Safety Council reports that 49,000 persons died in traffic accidents last year. The count through September of this year reached 38,190 -- about 20 per cent more than for the first nine months of 1965.

This year the nation has about 95 million drivers, and they are expected to travel considerably more than the 880 billion traffic miles estimated last year.

Cubans Free Minister for Eye Treatment

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Baptist missionary sentenced to 10 years in prison in Cuba has been released conditionally so that he may receive medical treatment, the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board announced today.

The Rev. Herbert Caudill, 62, of Omega, Ga., was among 32 Cuban Baptists sentenced last year.

Dr. Arthur B. Rutledge, executive secretary treasurer of the Home Mission Board, said Caudill had been freed from the prison to receive medical treatment at his home in Havana.

"I believe the condition is that he will not leave Cuba," Rutledge said.

The Rev. David Fite, 31, of Waynesboro, Ga., sentenced to six years in prison, remains a prisoner.

Rutledge said Caudill suffered a detached retina and is blind in one eye and is having difficulty in seeing with the other.

"He has been treated in a government hospital and a clinic, but they have not been able to help him," Rutledge said. "He will be permitted to live at his home in Havana and receive other treatment."

Rutledge said Baptist officials here talked with officials in Havana today, and were assured that Caudill has been released from prison.

The Baptists were accused of spying for the United States.

Jordan Blames Outsiders

By ROY ESSOYAN

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Prime Minister Wasfi Tell charged today that the violent antigovernment demonstrations in Jordan were subsidized with considerable amounts of money from the hostile Arab nations.

Tell declined to identify them, but the United Arab Republic and Syria, both antimonarchist, have been waging a vehement propaganda campaign against King Hussein's regime.

The situation in West Jordan, center of the disorders, is returning to normal, Tell said, and most curfews have been lifted.

Armored squads of Jordan's Arab Legion checked new demonstrations Sunday in towns along the border. The demonstrations followed an Israeli army raid on three Jordanian frontier villages earlier this month. When Jordan did not retaliate, the demonstrations took on an antigovernment tone.

Tell said four civilians and a soldier were killed in the West Jordan demonstrations last week.

He told a news conference the riotous demonstrations began as a "genuine expression of indignation and anger against Israel and a demand for arms and the strengthening of border forces against Israel."

"There is no doubt the anger was genuine," the prime minister said. "It was a perfectly healthy phenomenon. I would join such demonstrations myself if I were not prime minister."

However, he said, the demonstrations were exploited by subversive elements "and when the situation got out of hand the police intervened." He added that the Jordanian army moved into the trouble areas "only on the request of the citizens themselves."

Christmas Party At State Hospital

At last year's party more than 50 persons from the area visited the hospital to sing carols, distribute presents and visit the patients. More than 500 patients attended the dance, which included a visit from Santa Claus.

City to Paint Parking Spaces

Parking is expected to be restricted to the west side on the newly resurfaced section of New Madrid street from Malone to Center Tuesday morning to allow painting of parking space marks and left hand turn lanes, City Manager W. Raymert Miller, said today.

"We expect to complete the work on the east side of the street in the morning, if it doesn't rain," Miller said.

The flow of traffic will not be hindered by the work, Miller noted.

Barricades will be set up on the east side of the street to allow the street department to complete the work.

Parking space marks are expected to be painted on the west side of the street Wednesday morning.

China Dispute Renews

By William N. Oatis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)- Despite its strained relations with Red China, Indonesia today urged the seating of the Peking government in the United Nations to strengthen the world organization's ability to cope with problems of peace.

Indonesian delegate Rosslan Abdulgani told the U. N. General Assembly the Peking government "derives its power from the consent of the governed" and therefore "should be represented here."

This was Indonesia's first pronouncement on the China problem since its return to the world organization last September after an absence of 18 months.

Japan opened Monday's debate by opposing the proposal to seat Communist China in place of Nationalist China. Japanese Ambassador Akira Matsui praised a proposal for seeking a solution of the problem based on "political realities."

The speeches were delivered as the assembly neared its annual vote on the China issue.

The assembly was expected to vote late tonight on the Italian resolution and two others. one, the annual Communist proposal to oust Nationalist China and seat the Communists, was believed certain of defeat. The other, the annual U.S. resolution calling for a two-thirds vote to change China's representation, appeared likely to be approved.

Some sponsors of the Italian resolution predicted the 121-nation assembly would adopt it by a vote of about 45-40, with some 35 absentions. But some of its opponents guessed it would be defeated by a margin of one or two votes.

The Italian resolution hints that both Chinas should be in the United Nations. It speaks of the need to promote universality in the organization and "pave the way to an appropriate solution, taking into account the existing situation and the political realities of the area."

It would have the assembly name a committee of U.N. member countries to study the situation and recommend an "equitable and practical solution" to the assembly's 1967 session which begins next September. Without mentioning the rival Chinese regimes, it "appeals to all governments concerned to give assistance to the committee."

Both Chinese governments rejected the Italian proposal and the two-China solution that it appeared to be a prelude to.

Mariner Ends 2 Years in Orbit

PASADENA, CALIF. (AP) - Two years in space were marked today by America's ancient mariner, Mariner 4, as the spacecraft swung in orbit around the sun.

The 575-pound spacecraft that photographed the mysterious red planet is still in contact with earth although 206 million miles away.

"It reports its condition to earth three times a week," a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said, "although its voice is kind of weak."

The power of the craft's 10-watt transmitter dwindles to one billionth of one billionth of a watt by the time the voice reaches earth, the spokesman said.

Lung Ailment Claims Life of Fourth Quint

The same ailment that killed three of her sisters claimed the life of Marci Jill, last-born of the quints delivered 2½ months prematurely Saturday to Mrs. Michael Aranson, 22 onetime kindergarten teacher.

"She is kicking and crying and we are very hopeful," said one physician.

Roni Sue was the first-born and the largest at one pound 12 ounces.

The lung ailment first claimed Susan, the third-born, who died at 2:15 a.m., Sunday just short of 24 hours after birth. The second-born, Amy Beth, died at 2:15 p.m. and the fourth-born, Kimberly Ann, at 3:40 p.m.

Dr. Lee Bass, chief of pediatrics at Magee-Women's Hospital, said there also was a possibility that Marci Jill's brain had been damaged by lack of oxygen.

A tube was inserted into the infant's windpipe — trachea — through her mouth and a mechanical respirator was breathing for her.

Roni Sue was in a heated and glass-enclosed incubator. Her breathing was somewhat labored but not artificially aided.

"Roni Sue continues to look very good," Bass said. "There's still the crucial 72-hour period to get through for the respiratory problem, but if she gets through that there is a good chance she can be a healthy baby."

Aranson and his wife, Patti, "are very anxious to get one live baby and are praying," the doctor said.

Bass said preliminary autopsy reports indicated the three deaths were due to hyaline membrane disease, a common cause of death among premature infants, but that this would have to be confirmed by more detailed studies.

The disease causes a glassy film to form over the inner lining of the lungs, preventing the delivery of oxygen to the blood.

The Aransons were kept in seclusion following the deaths. Hospital spokesmen said they were "holding up as well as can be expected."

Dr. Wilfred J. Finegold, head of the three-man team of obstetricians that performed the delivery, said the Aransons had known since X rays were taken Oct. 19 that they would have quintuplets.

There are five known living sets of quints. The most recent set, four girls and a boy, was born to Mrs. D.W. Lawson of Auckland, New Zealand, on July 27, 1965.

Boggs Feels $10-$15 Billion Hike in Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Hale Boggs, the third-ranking Democratic leader in the House predicts President Johnson will ask the new Congress for a $10-billion to $15-billion increase in the income tax.

But the Louisianan says Johnson "hasn't told me so."

Boggs, back from talks with Johnson in Texas last week, said Sunday on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation" that projected expenditures of $125 billion will bring "a deficit of a considerable magnitude" over revenues pegged at between $115 billion and $118 billion.

Boggs added: "I would think that both parties, having committed themselves to fiscal responsibility, will face up to such an issue. I just don't believe that we would want a deficit of that proportion, particularly where the deficit is called for as a result of national defense commitments."

Dr. Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under John F. Kennedy and Johnson, again urged a 5 per cent across-the-board income tax boost as a device to slow the economy.

On the NBC program "Meet the Press," Heller said Sunday a tax increase should be coupled with an easing of interest rates.

He said this would not bring on a recession.

Heller, now a University of Minnesota economics professor, based his tax increase advocacy on a $20-billion increase in government spending, 4 to 5 per cent boost in plant spending and an increase in war costs of $10 billion to $12 billion.

Memphis Man Dies in Car

Mississippi county sheriff officers said Myrick died of natural causes, apparently a heart attack. The car was parked at the cafe all day Friday.

The body was taken to McMikle Funeral Home, Charleston, and then to Germain Funeral Home, Hayti.

Runaway Youths Return Home

Two Ripley county youths who ran away from home were located Sunday night in Sikeston after police were notified by the Missouri Highway Patrol.

The youths were identified as Norman Travis, Naylor, and Joanne Johnson, Fair Dealing. They are brother and sister, police said.

They were returned to their parents early today.

Cong Officer Tells Of Defection

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Vietnamese military command today displayed a man it said was the highest ranking Viet Cong to defect. He was identified as Lt. Col. Le Xuan Chuyen, alias Thanh Son.

Government military spokesmen said the 37-year-old man gave himself into government hands on Aug. 2 because "he was not satisfied with his assignment as well as the Communist political stand."

Wearing a white, short-sleeved shirt and blue-gray trousers, Chuyen was presented to newsmen at the regular military Vietnamese military briefing. Spokesmen said he had been a member of the Communist party 20 years, but he explained he had joined when the organization was known as the Indochinese Workers party.

A government statement said Chuyen joined the Viet Minh army in 1945 and in 1960 was promoted to lieutenant colonel and named commander of the 66th Regiment, 304th Viet Cong Division.

It added that in March 1966, he became ill "and taking this opportunity, he asked to be nursed at Miss Hiep's house in Suoi Kiot of Hoai Duc District until April 1966. He married this girl who rallied to the government of Viet Nam together with him."

In answer to questions, Chuyen said he left the Viet Cong because he was "not satisfied with their way of dominating." He added that "man should be free," and said there is "no private ownership or free press" under the Communists.

Boy Shoots Self in Foot

William J. Oakes, 16, route one, Benton, was treated and released from the Missouri Delta Community Hospital Sunday following the accident.

Oakes told police the accident occurred in the front yard at his residence while he was waiting for a bird to land. He was holding a 22 caliber rifle at his side and it accidently discharged.

3 Die in Vehicle Crashes

Three persons were killed in collisions on Southeast Missouri highways Saturday.

Neil Walker, 45, McClure, Ill., was killed in a three-vehicle accident on U. S. 61, 2½ miles south of Jackson at 6:40 p.m. Four persons were injured.

The highway patrol said a car driven by Doris Larkin, 33, Jackson, was on the wrong side of the road and hit Walker's pickup truck headon. A car, driven by Eugene Gaddis, 53, Dongolia, Ill., hit the rear of the pickup.

Injured were Gaddis, head cut; Harold Leach, 50, and Jerry Lee Smith, 23, both of Cape Girardeau, passengers in the pickup, head cuts and Mrs. Larkin, severe head and throat cuts. They were taken to Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A Florissant man was killed and three were injured in a two-car accident on Missouri 91, 3½ miles west of Bell City at 11 a.m.

Gene Winters, 29, was dead on arrival at a Cape Girardeau hospital.

Troopers said the Winters car attempted to pass another car and hit headon a car driven by Harry A. Penrose, 42, Benton.

Taken to a Cape Girardeau hospital in critical condition was his wife, Betty Winters, passenger in the Winters car, severe face cuts and head injury. Taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston in serious condition were Penrose, concussion and fractured ribs, and a passenger in the Penrose car, J.T. Carter, Morley. The extent of Carter's injuries were not immediately determined.

One was killed and three were injured in a three - car accident on U. S. 61, two miles south of Portageville at 1 p.m.

Killed was Kinard Neighbors, 57, Gilbertsville, Ky.

Troopers said a car driven by Clyde Goff, 53, Wardell, attempted to pass another car and hit headon a car driven by Frank Washington, 25, Portageville. The Goff car bounced off the Washington car and hit Neighbors' approaching car, the patrol reported.

Injured were Goff, chin cut; Robin Shelby, 5, Wardell, passenger in the Goff car, face cuts; Luda Goff, 68, Wardell, face cuts and possible fracture of face, and Anna Washington 24, Portageville, head cut. The injured were treated by a Portageville doctor and released.

Goff was charged with careless and reckless driving and passing in the face of oncoming traffic.

Three persons were injured in a two - car accident on Missouri 25, one mile north of Delta at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Troopers said a car driven by Robert Kelley, 66, Bloomfield, skidded into the rear of a car driven by Janet Bond, 18, Delta.

Injured were Janet Bond, neck injury; Kelley, chest injury, and Leola Kelley, 59, Bloomfield, scratches. All were taken to a Cape Girardeau hospital.

Two persons were injured when a car driven by Robert Craig, 22, Essex, hit a parked cotton trailer on Missouri 153, 3½ miles south of Hunterville at 6:15 p.m. Saturday.

Injured were Ruby Craig, 47, Essex, severe nose and face cuts, and Diane Craig, 13, Essex, head cut. They were taken to the Sikeston hospital.

Troopers said the cotton trailer, which had a flat tire, was parked on the highway while the driver, Jesse Edmonds, 51, Parma, left to get a tire and wheel. He was gone about one hour, the patrol reported. Edmonds was charged with improper parking.

One person was injured in a two - car accident on route 0 in Stoddard county, one - half mile east of Advance at 12:15 a.m. Sunday.

Pilot Rams Burning Plane Into Trees to Calm Panicky Soldiers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force captain told today how he slammed his crippled transport into treetops to knock down passengers who panicked when liquid flames poured from the plane's ceiling.

Capt. Richard A. Nagel Jr., 34, of Kenmore, N.Y., managed to crash land the plane despite a smoke-filled cockpit and fire raging out of control in the cabin.

All but one of the 37 persons on board escaped serious injury in the crash at Dau Tieng Saturday. One U.S. soldier-passenger reportedly has serious internal injuries.

"We had been warned of possible ground fire," said Nagel. "We fly with our windows open so we can hear it. This sounded like it was coming from four locations. Then we heard the slugs ripping into the plane about midway along the fuselage. Immediately a fire broke out above the left wheel well."

Nagel was sitting in the copilot's seat checking out a Thai air force officer as aircraft commander. The American took command of the damaged craft and swung back toward the field.

Panic swept the passengers when liquid fire dripped from ruptured hydraulic lines in the ceiling. They grabbed the few available parachutes and tried to pry open emergency windows, Nagel said.

Airman 1.C. Ray A. Houck, 20, of Cement City, Mich., was fighting the flames with a fire extinguisher and pushed passengers away from windows. Nagel and Houck tried to keep all windows closed to slow the spread of flames.

Some, in their panic, burst into the cockpit and tried to climb out a side window. From it they would have dropped into the spinning propeller. Nagel said that five persons were scrambling around the cockpit with the two pilots.

"We had to get the bird down in a hurry and the first thing I saw was a road. We'd just about decided to put it down there when an Army Caribou overhead called and told us to keep turning. We did and then he said the runway was right on our nose. I saw it."

GOP Eyes Greater Voice On Senate Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans hold the cards which could divide the influential Senate Foreign Relations Committee equally between critics and supporters of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies in the new Congress.

Their Senate ranks increased by three in the Nov. 8 election, Republican leaders are expected to demand greater party representation on foreign relations and other important committees.

Democrats now outnumber the GOP 13 to 6 on the Foreign Relations group headed by Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark. Under the new party division of 64 to 36, the Democrats would be entitled to only 12 members.

There are no vacancies on the committee, however, and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen have a way of compromising such matters.

An increase in membership to add one more Republican could open the way under the seniority system for Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., a former ambassador to India, to claim the new spot if he chooses to do so. Most of the GOP members who outrank Cooper in length of Senate service seem already set with the committees of their choices.

As the committee now stands, it has 10 members who have given general support to Johnson's Viet Nam course and 9 who have been critical at times of the President's actions. Cooper falls in the latter category.

Republicans also probably will be asking for larger representation on the Armed Services Committee, headed by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., where they now are outnumbered 12 to 5 by the Democrats.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., retires in January and thus there might be two spots open if that committee were enlarged also.

Saltonstall's retirement opens a Republican place on the powerful Appropriations Committee, now controlled by the Democrats 18 to 9. Sen. Wallace F. Bnnett, R-Utah, leads in seniority among those who might be interested in this choice spot.

Youth Report Good

City Manager W. Raymert Miller told the Optimist Club today at the Rustic Rock that "Sikeston does not have any major youth delinquency problems. "I was surprised when I found that only a small percentage of traffic violations were caused by the young people of our community," he said.

Miller was introduced by program chairman, Larry Harshbarger, with president John Harber, in charge of the meeting. There were 48 attending the breakfast meeting with two guests Ervie McMillen and Charles Shurtliff, present.

The charter night committee will meet tonight at the First National Bank community room, to make plans for the Jan. 14 meeting, which will be a ladies night.

"We as parents are failing our children by not taking enough time to discuss today's problems with them," Miller said. "I have found that all children are eager to know about problems of our city. I find that many of them have built up animosity against the police department. If you will check you will find that it has been handed down to them by the parents.

"We elect five councilmen to run our city and the children have a right to know something about them. When I have an opportunity to speak to children, I find all of them eager to know about the city. They are curious and ask many questions. Police are not to be blamed for exercising their duties but are forced to carry out orders set by the laws of your city.

"As to the drinking habits and speeding violations of our youth they are small in comparison with adults. "With many parents owning two cars and a boat, and our youth driving at the age of 16, there is no wonder that too little time is given to sons and daughters. I want to emphasize that our youth here are not wild, they get their attitudes and habits from their parents."

The city manager said that the city is now talking with two companies about plant locations and that prospects for location are bright.

Guitars Taken From Tavern

CROWDER - Two electric guitars and one unamplified guitar valued at $300 were taken Sunday morning from Boots tavern, John Dennis, Scott county sherriff, said today.

The burglar knocked the glass out of a door, reached in and turned the latch. Also taken was a carton of cigarettes. The theft was discovered Sunday morning.

The largest truck terminal in the world is the Newark Union Motor Truck Terminal. It has 160 loading platforms and serves the huge New York - Northern New Jersey metropolitan area.

Allies Wipe out 509 Cong in 19-Day Hunt

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines, South Koreans and government forces have killed 509 Viet Cong in a 19-day hunt-and-kill operation near South Viet Nam's central coast, it was reported today.

Fighting on the ground elsewhere slackened.

The allied coastal operation in Quang Ngai Province, about 350 miles northeast of Saigon, began Nov. 7. Associated Press correspondent Bob Gassaway reported from operational headquarters in the 1st Corps area north of the combat zone that up to Sunday the Koreans and South Vietnamese forces reported they had killed 458 Communist guerrillas while the U. S. Marines reported killing 51.

The enemy mortar attacks were aimed at troops of the U.S. 4th and 25th Divisions in positions around the Plei Djereng Special Forces — Green Beret — camp in the central highlands about 240 miles north of Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman said in the first attack, North Vietnamese army regulars lobbed 25 mortar rounds at 4th Division troops about 18 miles from the Green Beret camp but all fell short. No U.S. casualties were reported.

The second enemy mortar attack came after sundown against troops of the 25th and 4th Divisions about four miles south of the camp. A spokesman said 24 enemy rounds were fired at a command post but all fell outside the defense permieter. Again there were no U.S. casualties, the spokesman said.

The U.S. Navy had a busy day Sunday, reporting that 7th Fleet destroyers and rocket ships fired more than 1,300 five-inch shells and rockets at targets in South Viet Nam. The targets included supply routes, storage areas and fortified positions, the Navy said.

There was still no word from the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands whether they would order a truce at Christmas and New Year's. The Viet Cong announced Saturday it would stop fighting for 48 hours on the Christmas weekend and for 48 hours over the New Year.

The giant B52s flew in from Guam and bombed the suspected site of the Viet Cong's Central Office of South Viet Nam in jungles of Tay Ninh Province near the Cambodian border. The province, northwest of Saigon, was the scene of the massive U.S. Operation Attleboro, a 43-day sweep which ended Saturday.

In the scattered ground actions today, a unit of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division reported killing six Viet Cong and capturing two in a 15-minute firefight 19 miles northwest of Tuy Hoa, on the coast.

A unit of the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division reported killing six Viet Cong and capturing two in an hour - long skirmish 22 miles northwest of coastal Qui Nhon.

Across the country near the Cambodian frontier, a company of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division also reported six enemy killed in a 10-minute scrap 19 miles northwest of the U.S. Army Special Forces camp at Plei Djereng. This area has been the scene of sporadic fighting for two weeks and was hit by a B52 raid Sunday night for the sixth straight day.

The absence of any sizable ground fighting appeared to be another of the periodic lulls which occur in the Viet Nam war. U.S. officers said they saw no connection between the lull and the moves toward Christmas and New Year's truces.

U.S. headquarters reported no American casualties in the three light contacts Monday, nor were any U.S. losses reported in a series of small fights Sunday by units of the 25th Infantry Division. The infantrymen, operating 20 to 29 miles northwest of Saigon, reported killing 11 Viet Cong.

GAO to Keep Closer Tabs on Viet Spending

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The head of a U.S. government watchdog team said today his group soon will broaden its surveillance of the way American agencies handle a $25-billion effort in Viet Nam.

"We're going to look into anything and everything here," said Homer Anderson, manager of the two-month-old Saigon office of the General Accounting Office.

The GAO has 12 staff investigators in Saigon. Seven have been on special assignments since August, checking particularly on more than $800 million in construction contracts, the handling of the $700-million-a-year AID program, and persistent congestion in the Saigon port.

Anderson said the seven would return to Washington soon, leaving a permanent force of about five.

Until now, the GAO team has been bearing down on the auditing practices of the Agency of International Development and other U.S. bodies here. Now, said Anderson in an interview, the GAO team will broaden the scope of its surveillance.

Foreign Echo Stirs Brandt

BONN, Germany AP -- Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin said today he is concerned about foreign criticism of Kurt Georg Kiesinger, the Christian Democratic candidate for chancellor. The criticism has been based largely on Kiesinger's Nazi past.

Brandt's Social Democratic party has agreed in principle to go into a "grand coalition" under Kiesinger and Brandt is expected to take an important post.

"I am concerned about the echo from abroad," he said when asked about Kiesinger in an interview. "But there have also been some strongly exaggerated statements and I very much hope that in the foreseeable future this question will be regarded in a more sober way."

Brandt was originally quoted by a pro - Socialist press service as saying he was "not too concerned." The service later issued a correction, reversing the sense of the quotation.

Five Treated For Injuries

Traffic Deaths Hit 728

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A record holiday traffic death toll was set when 728 persons were killed in highway accidents during the four - day Thanksgiving weekend. Victims under 18 years of age numbered 125.

This compared with a non-holiday weekend two weeks ago when 546 died in traffic. Eighty - one were under 18.

Both 102-hour periods covered the span from 6 p.m. local time Wednesday, to midnight Sunday.

The record toll outstripped the former Thanksgiving holiday death record of 615 set during the four-day period last year, and the all-time traffic death record for a holiday, set during the 1965 Christmas period when 720 died in a 78-hour count.

Many accidents resulted in multiple fatalities, with two to five persons killed in a single crash. Five persons including two married couples died in one head-on collision near Dryden, N. Y., Saturday. Several four-death smashups were reported.

Sunday was by far the deadliest day with nearly 250 deaths.

Apparently, the unusually mild, pleasant weather over most of the nation during the holiday lured unprecedented numbers of persons onto the highways. Millions crowded the roads going home on the last day of the weekend, many running into unfavorable weather conditions posed by widespread rain in the central section of the country, and some snow and freezing in the northern states.

The National Safety Council reports that 49,000 persons died in traffic accidents last year. The count through September of this year reached 38,190 -- about 20 per cent more than for the first nine months of 1965.

This year the nation has about 95 million drivers, and they are expected to travel considerably more than the 880 billion traffic miles estimated last year.

Cubans Free Minister for Eye Treatment

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Baptist missionary sentenced to 10 years in prison in Cuba has been released conditionally so that he may receive medical treatment, the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board announced today.

The Rev. Herbert Caudill, 62, of Omega, Ga., was among 32 Cuban Baptists sentenced last year.

Dr. Arthur B. Rutledge, executive secretary treasurer of the Home Mission Board, said Caudill had been freed from the prison to receive medical treatment at his home in Havana.

"I believe the condition is that he will not leave Cuba," Rutledge said.

The Rev. David Fite, 31, of Waynesboro, Ga., sentenced to six years in prison, remains a prisoner.

Rutledge said Caudill suffered a detached retina and is blind in one eye and is having difficulty in seeing with the other.

"He has been treated in a government hospital and a clinic, but they have not been able to help him," Rutledge said. "He will be permitted to live at his home in Havana and receive other treatment."

Rutledge said Baptist officials here talked with officials in Havana today, and were assured that Caudill has been released from prison.

By ROY ESSOYAN

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Prime Minister Wasfi Tell charged today that the violent antigovernment demonstrations in Jordan were subsidized with considerable amounts of money from the hostile Arab nations.

Tell declined to identify them, but the United Arab Republic and Syria, both antimonarchist, have been waging a vehement propaganda campaign against King Hussein's regime.

The situation in West Jordan, center of the disorders, is returning to normal, Tell said, and most curfews have been lifted.

Armored squads of Jordan's Arab Legion checked new demonstrations Sunday in towns along the border. The demonstrations followed an Israeli army raid on three Jordanian frontier villages earlier this month. When Jordan did not retaliate, the demonstrations took on an antigovernment tone.

Tell said four civilians and a soldier were killed in the West Jordan demonstrations last week.

He told a news conference the riotous demonstrations began as a "genuine expression of indignation and anger against Israel and a demand for arms and the strengthening of border forces against Israel."

"There is no doubt the anger was genuine," the prime minister said. "It was a perfectly healthy phenomenon. I would join such demonstrations myself if I were not prime minister."

However, he said, the demonstrations were exploited by subversive elements "and when the situation got out of hand the police intervened." He added that the Jordanian army moved into the trouble areas "only on the request of the citizens themselves."

Christmas Party At State Hospital

At last year's party more than 50 persons from the area visited the hospital to sing carols, distribute presents and visit the patients. More than 500 patients attended the dance, which included a visit from Santa Claus.

City to Paint Parking Spaces

Parking is expected to be restricted to the west side on the newly resurfaced section of New Madrid street from Malone to Center Tuesday morning to allow painting of parking space marks and left hand turn lanes, City Manager W. Raymert Miller, said today.

"We expect to complete the work on the east side of the street in the morning, if it doesn't rain," Miller said.

The flow of traffic will not be hindered by the work, Miller noted.

Barricades will be set up on the east side of the street to allow the street department to complete the work.

Parking space marks are expected to be painted on the west side of the street Wednesday morning.

China Dispute Renews

By William N. Oatis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)- Despite its strained relations with Red China, Indonesia today urged the seating of the Peking government in the United Nations to strengthen the world organization's ability to cope with problems of peace.

Indonesian delegate Rosslan Abdulgani told the U. N. General Assembly the Peking government "derives its power from the consent of the governed" and therefore "should be represented here."

This was Indonesia's first pronouncement on the China problem since its return to the world organization last September after an absence of 18 months.

Japan opened Monday's debate by opposing the proposal to seat Communist China in place of Nationalist China. Japanese Ambassador Akira Matsui praised a proposal for seeking a solution of the problem based on "political realities."

The speeches were delivered as the assembly neared its annual vote on the China issue.

The assembly was expected to vote late tonight on the Italian resolution and two others, one the annual Communist proposal to oust Nationalist China and seat the Communists, was believed certain of defeat. The other, the annual U.S. resolution calling for a two-thirds vote to change China's representation, appeared likely to be approved.

Some sponsors of the Italian resolution predicted the 121-nation assembly would adopt it by a vote of about 45-40, with some 35 absentions. But some of its opponents guessed it would be defeated by a margin of one or two votes.

The Italian resolution hints that both Chinas should be in the United Nations. It speaks of the need to promote universality in the organization and "pave the way to an appropriate solution, taking into account the existing situation and the political realities of the area."

It would have the assembly name a committee of U.N. member countries to study the situation and recommend an "equitable and practical solution" to the assembly's 1967 session which begins next September. Without mentioning the rival Chinese regimes, it "appeals to all governments concerned to give assistance to the committee."

Both Chinese governments rejected the Italian proposal and the two-China solution that it appeared to be a prelude to.

Mariner Ends 2 Years in Orbit

PASADENA, CALIF. (AP)- Two years in space were marked today by America's ancient mariner, Mariner 4, as the spacecraft swung in orbit around the sun.

The 575-pound spacecraft that photographed the mysterious red planet is still in contact with earth although 206 million miles away.

"It reports its condition to earth three times a week," a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said, "although its voice is kind of weak."

The power of the craft's 10-watt transmitter dwindles to one billionth of one billionth of a watt by the time the voice reaches earth, the spokesman said.

GOP Eyes Greater Voice On Senate Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans hold the cards which could divide the influential Senate Foreign Relations Committee equally between critics and supporters of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies in the new Congress.

Their Senate ranks increased by three in the Nov. 8 election, Republican leaders are expected to demand greater party representation on foreign relations and other important committees.

Democrats now outnumber the GOP 13 to 6 on the Foreign Relations group headed by Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark. Under the new party division of 64 to 36, the Democrats would be entitled to only 12 members.

There are no vacancies on the committee, however, and Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen have a way of compromising such matters.

An increase in membership to add one more Republican could open the way under the seniority system for Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., a former ambassador to India, to claim the new spot if he chooses to do so. Most of the GOP members who outrank Cooper in length of Senate service seem already set with the committees of their choices.

As the committee now stands, it has 10 members who have given general support to Johnson's Viet Nam course and 9 who have been critical at times of the President's actions. Cooper falls in the latter category.

Republicans also probably will be asking for larger representation on the Armed Services Committee, headed by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., where they now are outnumbered 12 to 5 by the Democrats.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., retires in January and thus there might be two spots open if that committee were enlarged also.

Saltonstall's retirement opens a Republican place on the powerful Appropriations Committee, now controlled by the Democrats 18 to 9. Sen. Wallace F. Bnnett, R-Utah, leads in seniority among those who might be interested in this choice spot.

Lung Ailment Claims Life of Fourth Quint

The same ailment that killed three of her sisters claimed the life of Marci Jill, last-born of the quints delivered 2½ months prematurely Saturday to Mrs. Michael Aranson, 22 onetime kindergarten teacher.

The surviving child, Roni Sue, was reported in good condition.

"She is kicking and crying and we are very hopeful," said one physician.

Roni Sue was the first-born and the largest at one pound 12 ounces.

The lung ailment first claimed Susan, the third-born, who died at 2:15 a.m., Sunday just short of 24 hours after birth. The second-born, Amy Beth, died at 2:15 p.m. and the fourth-born, Kimberly Ann, at 3:40 p.m.

Dr. Lee Bass, chief of pediatrics at Magee-Women's Hospital, said there also was a possibility that Marci Jill's brain had been damaged by lack of oxygen.

A tube was inserted into the infant's windpipe — trachea — through her mouth and a mechanical respirator was breathing for her.

Roni Sue was in a heated and glass-enclosed incubator. Her breathing was somewhat labored but not artificially aided.

"Roni Sue continues to look very good," Bass said. "There's still the crucial 72-hour period to get through for the respiratory problem, but if she gets through that there is a good chance she can be a healthy baby."

Aranson and his wife, Patti, "are very anxious to get one live baby and are praying," the doctor said.

Bass said preliminary autopsy reports indicated the three deaths were due to hyaline membrane disease, a common cause of death among premature infants, but that this would have to be confirmed by more detailed studies.

The disease causes a glassy film to form over the inner lining of the lungs, preventing the delivery of oxygen to the blood.

The Aransons were kept in seclusion following the deaths. Hospital spokesmen said they were "holding up as well as can be expected."

Dr. Wilfred J. Finegold, head of the three-man team of obstetricians that performed the delivery, said the Aransons had known since X rays were taken Oct. 19 that they would have quintuplets.

There are five known living sets of quints. The most recent set, four girls and a boy, was born to Mrs. D.W. Lawson of Auckland, New Zealand, on July 27, 1965.

Boggs Feels $10-$15 Billion Hike in Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Hale Boggs, the third-ranking Democratic leader in the House predicts President Johnson will ask the new Congress for a $10-billion to $15-billion increase in the income tax.

But the Louisianan says Johnson "hasn't told me so."

Boggs, back from talks with Johnson in Texas last week, said Sunday on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation" that projected expenditures of $125 billion will bring "a deficit of a considerable magnitude" over revenues pegged at between $115 billion and $118 billion.

Boggs added: "I would think that both parties, having committed themselves to fiscal responsibility, will face up to such an issue. I just don't believe that we would want a deficit of that proportion, particularly where the deficit is called for as a result of national defense commitments."

Dr. Walter W. Heller, former chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers under John F. Kennedy and Johnson, again urged a 5 per cent across-the-board income tax boost as a device to slow the economy.

On the NBC program "Meet the Press," Heller said Sunday a tax increase should be coupled with an easing of interest rates.

He said this would not bring on a recession.

Heller, now a University of Minnesota economics professor, based his tax increase advoacy on a $20-billion increase in government spending, 4 to 5 per cent boost in plant spending and an increase in war costs of $10 billion to $12 billion.

Memphis Man Dies in Car

Mississippi county sheriff officers said Myrick died of natural causes, apparently a heart attack. The car was parked at the cafe all day Friday.

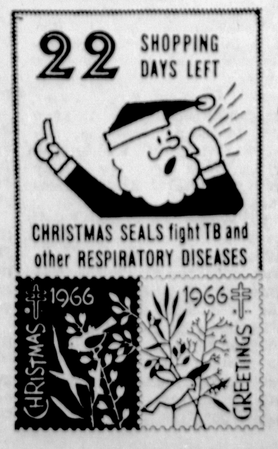
The body was taken to McMikle Funeral Home, Charleston, and then to Germain Funeral Home, Hayti.

Runaway Youths Return Home

Two Ripley county youths who ran away from home were located Sunday night in Sikeston after police were notified by the Missouri Highway Patrol.

The youths were identified as Norman Travis, Naylor, and Joanne Johnson, Fair Dealing. They are brother and sister, police said.

They were returned to their parents early today.



Cong Officer Tells Of Defection

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Vietnamese military command today displayed a man it said was the highest ranking Viet Cong to defect. He was identified as Lt. Col. Le Xuan Chuyen, alias Thanh Son.

Government military spokesmen said the 37-year-old man gave himself into government hands on Aug. 2 because "he was not satisfied with his assignment as well as the Communist political stand."

Wearing a white, short-sleeved shirt and blue-gray trousers, Chuyen was presented to newsmen at the regular military Vietnamese military briefing. Spokesmen said he had been a member of the Communist party 20 years, but he explained he had joined when the organization was known as the Indochinese Workers party.

A government statement said Chuyen joined the Viet Minh army in 1945 and in 1960 was promoted to lieutenant colonel and named commander of the 66th Regiment, 304th Viet Cong Division.

It added that in March 1966, he became ill "and taking this opportunity, he asked to be nursed at Miss Hiep's house in Suoi Kiot of Hoai Duc District until April 1966. He married this girl who rallied to the government of Viet Nam together with him."

In answer to questions, Chuyen said he left the Viet Cong because he was "not satisfied with their way of dominating." He added that "man should be free," and said there is "no private ownership or free press" under the Communists.

Boy Shoots Self in Foot

A Benton youth accidently shot himself in the right foot Sunday at his residence, police reported today.

William J. Oakes, 16, route one, Benton, was treated and released from the Missouri Delta Community Hospital Sunday following the accident.

Oakes told police the accident occurred in the front yard at his residence while he was waiting for a bird to land. He was holding a 22 caliber rifle at his side and it accidently discharged.

3 Die in Vehicle Crashes

Three persons were killed in collisions on Southeast Missouri highways Saturday.

Neil Walker, 45, McClure, Ill., was killed in a three-vehicle accident on U. S. 61, 2½ miles south of Jackson at 6:40 p.m. Four persons were injured.

The highway patrol said a car driven by Doris Larkin, 33, Jackson, was on the wrong side of the road and hit Walker's pickup truck headon. A car, driven by Eugene Gaddis, 53, Dongolia, Ill., hit the rear of the pickup.

Injured were Gaddis, head cut; Harold Leach, 50, and Jerry Lee Smith, 23, both of Cape Girardeau, passengers in the pickup, head cuts and Mrs. Larkin, severe head and throat cuts. They were taken to Southeast Missouri hospital in Cape Girardeau.

A Florissant man was killed and three were injured in a two-car accident on Missouri 91, 3½ miles west of Bell City at 11 a.m.

Gene Winters, 29, was dead on arrival at a Cape Girardeau hospital.

Troopers said the Winters car attempted to pass another car and hit headon a car driven by Harry A. Penrose, 42, Benton.

Taken to a Cape Girardeau hospital in critical condition was his wife, Betty Winters, passenger in the Winters car, severe face cuts and head injury. Taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston in serious condition were Penrose, concussion and fractured ribs, and a passenger in the Penrose car, J. T. Carter, Morley. The extent of Carter's injuries were not immediately determined.

One was killed and three were injured in a three - car accident on U. S. 61, two miles south of Portageville at 1 p.m.

Killed was Kinard Neighbors, 57, Gilbertsville, Ky.

Troopers said a car driven by Clyde Goff, 53, Wardell, attempted to pass another car and hit headon a car driven by Frank Washington, 25, Portageville. The Goff car bounced off the Washington car and hit Neighbors' approaching car, the patrol reported.

Injured were Goff, chin cut; Robin Shelby, 5, Wardell, passenger in the Goff car, face cuts; Luda Goff, 68, Wardell, face cuts and possible fracture of face, and Anna Washington 24, Portageville, head cut. The injured were treated by a Portageville doctor and released.

Goff was charged with careless and reckless driving and passing in the face of oncoming traffic.

Three persons were injured in a two - car accident on Missouri 25, one mile north of Delta at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Troopers said a car driven by Robert Kelley, 66, Bloomfield, skidded into the rear of a car driven by Janet Bond, 18, Delta.

Injured were Janet Bond, neck injury; Kelley, chest injury, and Leola Kelley, 59, Bloomfield, scratches. All were taken to a Cape Girardeau hospital.

Two persons were injured when a car driven by Robert Craig, 22, Essex, hit a parked cotton trailer on Missouri 153, 3½ miles south of Hunterville at 6:15 p.m. Saturday.

Injured were Ruby Craig, 47, Essex, severe nose and face cuts, and Diane Craig, 13, Essex, head cut. They were taken to the Sikeston hospital.

Troopers said the cotton trailer, which had a flat tire, was parked on the highway while the driver, Jesse Edmonds, 51, Parma, left to get a tire and wheel. He was gone about one hour, the patrol reported. Edmonds was charged with improper parking.

One person was injured in a two - car accident on route 0 in Stoddard county, one - half mile east of Advance at 12:15 a.m. Sunday.

Troopers said a car driven by Kenneth Bollinger, 23, Sturdi-

Pilot Rams Burning Plane Into Trees to Calm Panicky Soldiers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force captain told today how he slammed his crippled transport into treetops to knock down passengers who panicked when liquid flames poured from the plane's ceiling.

Capt. Richard A. Nagel Jr., 34, of Kenmore, N.Y., managed to crash land the plane despite a smoke-filled cockpit and fire raging out of control in the cabin.

All but one of the 37 persons on board escaped serious injury in the crash at Dau Tieng Saturday. One U.S. soldier-passenger reportedly has serious internal injuries.

Nagel was making his fifth takeoff of the day ferrying soldiers at the end of Operation Attleboro, the biggest U.S. operation of the war. His twin-engine C123 Provider was hit by intense ground fire just after lifting from the airstrip.

"We had been warned of possible ground fire," said Nagel. "We fly with our windows open so we can hear it. This sounded like it was coming from four locations. Then we heard the slugs ripping into the plane about midway along the fuselage. Immediately a fire broke out above the left wheel well."

Nagel was sitting in the copilot's seat checking out a Thai air force officer as aircraft commander. The American took command of the damaged craft and swung back toward the field.

Panic swept the passengers when liquid fire dripped from ruptured hydraulic lines in the ceiling. They grabbed the few available parachutes and tried to pry open emergency windows, Nagel said.

Airman 1.C. Ray A. Houck, 20, of Cement City, Mich., was fighting the flames with a fire extinguisher and pushed passengers away from windows. Nagel and Houck tried to keep all windows closed to slow the spread of flames.

Some, in their panic, burst into the cockpit and tried to climb out a side window. From it they would have dropped into the spinning propeller. Nagel said that five persons were scrambling around the cockpit with the two pilots.

"We had to get the bird down in a hurry and the first thing I saw was a road. We'd just about decided to put it down there when an Army Caribou overhead called and told us to keep turning. We did and then he said the runway was right on our nose. I saw it."

Since 1949, when communist forces overran the Chinese mainland, Red China has poured tens of thousands of dollars into the American economy through purchases of nonclassified publications of myriad types and descriptions. During a recent 12-month period, one United States publisher alone shipped $4,556 worth of technical books to a firm in Peking. To procure an American engineering index, the Chinese communists eagerly paid more than $2,600; and a group of government research documents cost them $464. Many other purchases of American publications, ranging from a few dollars into thousands, have been traced to the Red Chinese...."

STAMPING OUT MEASLES

Measles can be stamped out as thoroughly as were diphtheria, smallpox and polio, but the will to do so seems somehow to be lacking. An anti-measles vaccine has been available for almost four years, yet the disease still strikes thousands of youngsters every year. Through Oct. 29, 1966, according to the Communicable Disease Center of the U.S. Public Health Service, 192,-849 cases of measles had been reported, as against 245,038 cases in the same period of 1965.

This represents a substantial reduction, especially in view of the fact that measles victims numbered around 400,000 a year as recently as 1961. Nevertheless, Dr. William H. Stewart, surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service, is far from satisfied. Stewart asserted, Nov. 1, that measles "could be eradicated" in the United States next year if an intensive immunization plan were put into effect.

Dr. H. Bruce Dull echoed Stewart in addressing the American Public Health Association in San Francisco the same day. Dull, who works for the Communicable Disease Center, said that the measles immunization level of the United States could easily be raised to as much as 95 per cent. This could happen if between 8 million and 10 million children were immunized in 1967, and if 4 million infants were immunized in each succeeding year.

Such an undertaking would seem well worth the expense and trouble involved. Two-week measles means for most youngsters a feverish fortnight in bed. But for an unfortunate few the disease can cause mental retardation or even death.

AUTOMOBILES DON'T VOTE

If there are any highway-safety experts hereabouts, Robert Catlin must be considered among them. Many years ago, as vice president of Aetna, he interested himself in the subject. Later he helped organize the State Safety Commission, and served as its chairman for more than two decades. Today, in the People's Forum, Mr. Catlin points out the fallacy of attacking the problem of highway safety from the standpoint of defective automobiles. There are probably 20 times as many defective drivers on the road as there are faulty automobiles.

At any rate, as Mr. Catlin points out, the far greater number of automobile accidents are caused not by mechanical defect, but by human error of one kind or another. And it is in dealing with these human errors that the safety programs of every state, including Connecticut, are extremely flabby. Licenses are issued to persons who should not be permitted to drive. They are restored to persons, after suspension, who have demonstrated their unfitness to drive. In most states this suspension and restoration of licenses bears an unmistakable political flavor.

This flabby attitude is demonstrated not only in the state government, where the licensing commissioner is usually a practicing politician, but also in many courts. These seem to reflect the same complacent attitude toward automobile infractions. As Mr. Catlin points out in his letter, it was once held that a driver's license was a privilege. But now many consider it a right, and one that cannot be permanently forfeited, no matter how unfit - physically, mentally, or emotionally - a driver may be.

Mr. Ribicoff has made somewhat of a reputation for himself by his zeal in promoting highway safety. Perhaps after he has cleaned up the automobile industry he will take on the loose practices that obtain in most states and which contribute to highway deatns. Not the least of these is the weak-kneed attitude toward the punishment of drunken drivers. When their cases are not fixed, or reduced to a lesser offense, the punishment is rarely severe. Yet drunken driving is the greatest single offense.

According to reports from a survey of state road officials conducted by Better Roads magazine, there's stepped-up action in correcting spot highway hazards all over the nation.

It stems from a fact that has been disturbing state highway officials: While safety factors built into new expressways are lowering accident rates, the defects and dangers of older highways are becoming more apparent.

Statistics from the National Safety Council show that death rates for rural highways as a whole are three times higher than the rates for the new interstate systems.

Typical steps taken to eliminate spot traffic hazards are widening of bridges, lessening of curve angles, and installing uniform traffic aids, including highly reflective signs and pavement markings.

Continued action along these lines is being encouraged by a ruling from the federal government that U.S. highway funds can be used for spot improvements at high accident locations. To qualify for such federal money, the state merely submits evidence that a particular location is in fact a high accident location and show how the suggested improvement will correct the situation.

SOMETHING TO GAIN

Every service or business which has professional or business relationships with the public has something to gain from advertising.

Recently a whole section of a Chicago newspaper was devoted to advertising of savings and loan associations. The advertisements consisted of information about individual firms and group advertisements describing the business in general. The section has specific local appeal which could come only from newspaper advertising.

Educational institutions, governmental agencies, and the military services make wide use of paid advertising and flood editors with a constant stream of publicity materials. Editors do make frequent use of such material when it contains legitimate news and seems to be in the public interest. Nevertheless, the material is nearly always originated as free advertising.

One of every three babies born today will live to be 80. But science doesn't seem to be speeding us very quickly to the time when nearly everyone will achieve a longevity of 100 to 150 years.

Is your front door becoming obsolete? Studies show that in suburban homes 90 per cent of the traffic is between the garage and a side or back door.

Leprosy, one of the oldest of man's ailments, still remains something of a mystery. Now generally known as Hansen's disease, it affects some 12 million victims throughout the world.

Medical researchers are still uncertain how the disease enters the bodies of those it strikes.

The Vinegar River in Colombia is so sour because of seepings from a nearby volcano that fish can't live in it. It's unfair to call amorous middle-aged men wolves — unfair to the wolves, that is. Most wolves are probably more monogamous than most men.

Worth remembering: "The average person probably hasn't stored up enough treasure in heaven to make the down payment on a harp."

The longer the trip, the faster you are likely to drive. A traffic study found that drivers going more than 400 miles travel 7.6 miles an hour faster than those going less than 20 miles.

A lobbyist opposing a large appropriation for a state college approached a legislator who boasted of his self-education. "Do you realize," asked the portly lobbyist gravely, "that up at the state college men and women students have to use the same curriculum?"

The legislator looked startled. "And the boys and girls often matriculate together?"

"No!"

The lobbyist came closer and whispered, "And a young lady student can be forced at any to show a male professor her thesis?"

The legislator shrank back in horror. "I won't vote 'em a danged cent!"

"I'd like to know," said the wife in a jealous rage, "why it takes my husband so long to get something over there!"

MOUNTAINEER IS UP A TREE

A man who lives in the Blue Ridge Mountains is facing a problem that really has him treed. Or at least stumped.

His wife received an advertising folder from a big department store in a big city, offering a fancy line of exclusive creations by an exclusive dress designer.

The creations were priced up to $250 and were modeled in the flossy folder by lovely, skinny, sad-faced girls who for some reason were shown perched precariously in the tops of bare trees, or on various levels of bare tree branches.

The man's wife, of course, was interested in the dresses -- so much that he wrote the department store a letter.

Frankly, he told the store, his wife had never paid as much as $250 for a dress to climb trees in. But she realized, he said, that a well-dressed woman naturally wants to be well-dressed, no matter where she is or what she is doing.

Furthermore, he said, both he and his wife realized that when a woman is climbing a tree, or even just sitting high up in one, she is apt to be noticed and wants to be presentable.

"But we do have a question," he wrote. "In our yard are several kinds of trees -- tulip, pine, fir, walnut, hickory nut, apple, plum and dogwood.

"Now: Is there a specific $250 dress for climbing or sitting in a specific tree? Or do you have an all-purpose $250 dress that may be worn to climb or sit in ANY tree?

"You can understand," the man went on, "that if we were to pay $250 for a dress for our wife to climb trees in, we wouldn't want her to get up there and discover she was wearing the wrong thing. We mountain folk are proud, gentleman -- real proud."

The man had still another question.

"Can you recommend," he asked, "a good place in this area for my wife to take a refresher course in tree climbin? She hasn't climbed a tree in years, she tells me -- not since she was a little girl. And she seems a little uncertain as to how well she could do it.

"She says that so far as she can recall, she never climbed a tree in a $250 dress when she was a kid. And she can't remember anyone else who did."

Well, the man has received no answer from the department store. And he has come to the conclusion that the folks who make and sell those dresses DON'T KNOW what to tell him!

He just can't understand it.

The Asian Flu at the close of war No. one took 20,000,000 lives, 548,000 in the U.S.A. in the shortest length of time since the flood. We have read where it was responsible for ending that war, but we have never read who or what caused it. We have always had our opinion that only the Lord could have done the job before nuclear bombs was invented. That we have bombs, cocked and primed as of today, that could kill 20 million at one blast no one doubts, and that our side is saying by act and deed that we are ready to use them.

We could wake up some bright morning to learn the world population would have to start from scratch again like it did after the flood. If we happened to wake up, that is.

H. L. Hunt Says

FABIAN SOCIALISM

Today, Fabian Socialism may be a greater threat to freedom in this country than is Communism. Since writing my book, FABIANS FIGHT FREEDOM, many people have written to me, wanting to know more about this menace.

Although United States citizens would never vote Communism in, they have, in fact, already voted Fabian Socialism in. This is indeed a strange paradox because any American who is sincerely anti-communist must be fearful of Socialism.

Unfortunately, many of today's leaders in politics, religion and education (as well as many businessmen) have never learned or understood the long-range strategic goals of Communism. They have failed to recognize that Communism is a long-range planned society; that it is a spiritual evil, not just another political power!

This evil spirit is always on the offensive in every part of the world, and the United States is always forced to respond. There is no division of interests between Moscow Communism and Red Communism, despite an attempt by the communists to make Americans believe this is true.

In a socialistic form of government, Christianity is always weakened; under Communism it is persecuted and eventually extinguished.

Capitalism is the only form of government under which religion and individual freedom exist meaningfully. Communism is a deadly evil that eats away at the Church, and destroys initiative.

Socialism is but a perversion of Christianity, a pretense of trying to save mankind by superimposing help under the name of welfare from the outside. HLH.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON-- The FBI is not exactly holding its breath, but some of its agents are worried that U. S. Judge Oliver Gasch will rule that J. Edgar Hoover has to testify in the sensational case of bugging at the Sheraton - Carlton hotel, involving the conversations of Bobby Baker, former Secretary of State and righthand man to Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

Hoover himself is reported not to be losing any sleep. He knows that Judge Gasch, a strait - laced public servant who calls the shots as he sees them, has spent much of his career as a public prosecutor, and prosecutors lean toward the FBI.

But, meanwhile, there are some amazing developments in the eavesdropping on Bobby Baker and his friend Fred Black, the public relations man who has won a new trial because the FBI romped over his constitutional rights. Black had been convicted of tax evasion, until the justice department went before the supreme court to make the embarrassing confession that J. Edgar Hoover had been eavesdropping and wire tapping for years, apparently without the knowledge of the attorney general.

One development in the bugging of the Sheraton - Carlton is that the FBI agents also listened in on conversations in the VIP suite, where foreign visitors were entertained.

The Carlton is located only a step across Lafayette Square from the White House and is convenient for the entertainment of VIP's.

These visitors will now be interested in learning that for three months, Feb. 7 to April 25, 1963, every remark they made in suite 434-36 was listened to by American agents 24 hours a day.

This was because Fred Black's suite was next door -- 438 - 440 -- and the eavesdropping equipment which the FBI installed was so strong that it picked up conversation in the neighboring VIP suite.

The United States has long been critical of police - state methods by Communist nations and at one time accused the Soviet government of placing a bug in the American Emassy. This was over twenty years ago. Today if a bug were found in the Moscow hotel suite of an American visitor there would be an international uproar.

Note -- This year President Tito of Yugoslavia fired the Vice President of Yugoslavia, Aleksander Rankovic, because he had engaged in wire tapping. Today the Communist world is having the laugh on the United States -- thanks to Hoover.

WILL FBI BE PROSECUTED?

Another important development in the Bobby Baker case is the fact that the FBI has now violated his constitutional rights. This has been officially stipulated by William O. Bittman, Justice Department attorney who is contesting the case against Baker.

Reason for the stiuplation was that the Justice Department was trying to dodge the fact that J. Edgar Hoover has got himself in a position where the FBI can be prosecuted either for housebreaking or violation of constitutional rights. The latter is a felony with a punishment up to ten years in jail.

At present the FBI is being prosecuted criminally in Nevada, where it placed the equivalent of 125 wire taps, in collaboration with the Central Telephone Company of Nevada, also a defendant.

It should be noted in fairness that FBI men are extremely efficient and carry out orders. They should not be blamed personally. Nevertheless a criminal violation is a criminal violation.

How J. Edgar Hoover and the Justice Department are going to get around this law violation remains to be seen. For the Justice Department which is in charge of enforcing the law, will be in the position of prosecuting an arm of the Justice Department, the FBI. In Nevada this is not the case because state law is involved. But, in the district of Columbia, federal law is involved and the Justice Department is entrusted with enforcing it.

HOOVER'S CHARMED LIFE

The Justice Department is now under acting Attorney General Ramsey Clark, an able young man who took over when Nicholas Katzenbach was transferred to be Under Secretary of State. There has been speculation that Katzenbach's demotion was due to the fact that he ok'd the public confession of Hoover's wire tapping. Such an admission had never been made before, though long suspected.

So far Hoover has led a charmed life. He has a great career back in the crime-busting days. But ever since President Johnson continued him in office two years beyond statutory retirement at the age of 70, troubles have piled up for Hoover. The President will have another decision to make in about thirty days, when Hoover reaches his 72nd birthday, Jan. 1, 1967.

Ironically Hoover has put himself in the position of probably saving the prosecution of the President's one - time friend Bobby Baker by listening in on his conversations.

This is because Baker's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, contends that the Justice Department has nullified its case against Baker by violating his constitutional rights though eavesdropping.

The Justice Department counters by arguing that it listened in on only eleven of Baker's conversations and that these were not important to the income tax indictments subsequently brought against him. Just how the Justice Department can sort out certain wiretapped conversations from others, and claim that only eleven are germane to the case, is a fine point of law which remains to be decided by the courts.

Such are the problems when a government resorts to police state methods.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

White House Staff Angers Labor Leaders

Washington, D. C.: -- During his sentimental Asian journey, President Johnson relaxed with his favorite hobby -- the telephone. He called transcontinental to keep atop the election campaigns. Amongst those with whom he chatted were several labor leaders, whom he urged to swing more heavily into some state battles -- especially Texas.

These labor leaders are devoted to the President, personally and politically. They, in turn, therefore called their regional colleagues. But at this point the action slowed.

It slowed because, unknown to the President, many labor leaders -- and their anonymous Washington specialists -- resent what they now dub "the brush off treatment" they say they're getting from the young White House staff, cabinet members and a string of executive agency officials.

They claim their communication lines with the White House staff are clogged. They can't get through. And when they do, they say, they really have no one to talk to who understands them.

Their argument is that the younger generation of White House aides has no empathy or identity with the older generation of labor leaders. Instead, the White House staff, according to union chiefs who have been accustomed for years to call in directly, looks upon them as stodgy old men.

Recently the leader of a powerful maritime union telephoned a White House aide and got into a brawl so loud over a piece of legislation that they could have heard each other without benefit of the Bell System.

It is not generally known, but there is a large corps of labor men who do nothing but deal with the White House and the government for their unions. In the past, these men have been simply a dial away from the White House on many matters -- a bill, a bid for a dinner invitation for their chief, or just arrangements for a quick tour. Now these channels are clogged and sticky, most of the labor contact men say. When they get together, they swap stories on how tough it is to do business with the White House staffers these days.

Furthermore, their feuds are proliferating. There's bitterness on the cabinet level -- with the Labor Dept. because, say they, it has become a vast social service agency and "nothing like the old department which worked with us." There's anger with the Commerce Dept. for a phone book full of reasons.

There is resentment over the actions of the National Mediation Service, the agency which handles the machinists and railroad unions. All this is just a starter.

To these could be added a long string of independent agencies which have quasi-judicial authority and have antagonized powerful unions such as the railroad brotherhoods, the militant machinists, the politically polished seafarers etc., etc.

This had its impact on the '66 elections -- and may affect '68. Why?

"The resentment is on the working level," said one AFL-CIO vice president who recently had fought it out on the phone with a White House aide. "That's where the campaign troops come from -- or don't come from. All of these federal agencies and the Cabinet group, which I say are harassing us, are a source of great dissatisfaction. There's a lot of friction.

"So a lot of troops just did not come out at election time. And that's where elections are won or lost -- right on the production line.

"Just ask the machinists why they're mad at the Mediation Service. They can't get it to move. Or ask some of our national unions which have 10 or 15 cases going regularly against us because of Labor Dept. or Justice Dept. action.

"The big thing is that neither we nor the fellows we keep in Washington to lobby or make contacts have anybody to talk to in the White House as we always had. We just can't go calling Lyndon Johnson, can we?"

Until recently, the second line of labor's command and their contact men could phone former press secretary George Reedy or special counsel Mike Feldman. In the Kennedy administration there was Ralph Dungan, now ambassador to Chile.

And before that labor had its own close friend, the late, jovial Jim Mitchell and press secretary Jim Hagerty. And before that there was an "assistant president in charge of labor" -- John Steelman.

That's what the labor men want now -- a White House contact man who will understand "the movement," and "not be out of the younger intellectual generation among whom it is fashionable to believe us to be antediluvian.

"They should know that resentment is going right down the line. They may have to get their own campaigners onto the streets in the future."

One of every three babies born today will live to be 80. But science doesn't seem to be speeding us very quickly to the time when nearly everyone will achieve a longevity of 100 to 150 years.

Is your front door becoming obsolete? Studies show that in suburban homes 90 per cent of the traffic is between the garage and a side or back door.

Leprosy, one of the oldest of man's ailments, still remains something of a mystery. Now generally known as Hansen's disease, it affects some 12 million victims throughout the world.

Medical researchers are still uncertain how the disease enters the bodies of those it strikes.

Are you keeping in a drawer as family heirlooms or good luck pieces any old U.S. silver dollars? Well, look for one dated 1804. A coin dealer may pay you several thousand dollars for it.

Liabilities from business failures in 1946 totaled $67,349,-000. The total for last year was more than $1.3 billion. The rule of prosperity seems to the more others lose."

Quotable notables: "You must learn day by day, year by year, to broaden your horizon. The more things you love, the more you are interested in, the more you enjoy, the more you are indignant about — the more you have left when anything happens."—Ethel Barrymore.

Did you ever hear of Crab Orchard, Petticoat Lane, Bug Tussle, Gobblers Knob, Rabbit Hash, and just plain Ordinary? Well, they are all place names in Kentucky.

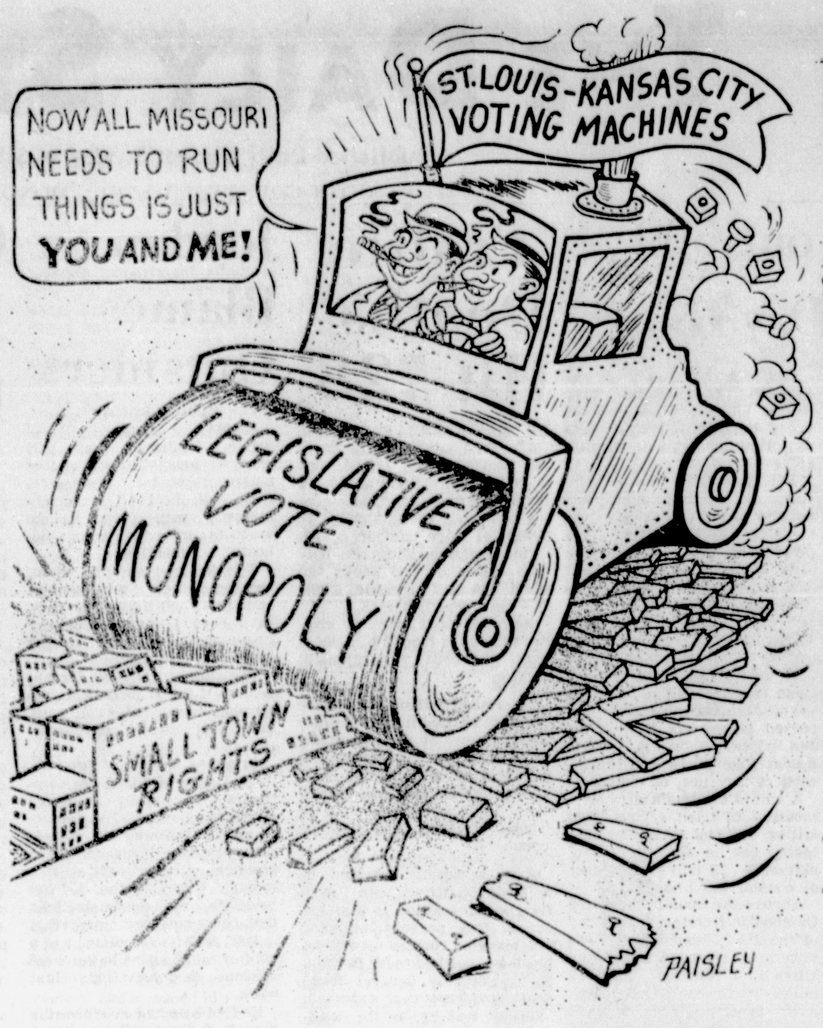
Nature notes: The sluggish opossum, which rarely lives beyond its second birthday, doesn't even open its eyes until it is about 60 days old. The Vinegar River in Colombia is so sour because of seepings from a nearby volcano that fish can't live in it. It's unfair to call amorous middle-aged men wolves — unfair to the wolves, that is. Most wolves are probably more monogamous than most men.

Worth remembering: "The average person probably hasn't stored up enough treasure in heaven to make the down payment on a harp."

The longer the trip, the faster you are likely to drive. A traffic study found that drivers going more than 400 miles travel 7.6 miles an hour faster than those going less than 20 miles.

Folklore: A sore on the tongue tip is a tipoff that you told a lie. Stubbing the left big toe is bad luck, stubbing the right, good luck. If your thumb itches, someone is coming to visit you.

It was the French writer La Rochefoucauld who observed, "Old men are fond of giving good advice to console themselves for their inability to set bad examples."



A CAREFUL LEGISLATOR

A lobbyist opposing a large appropriation for a state college approached a legislator who boasted of his self-education. "Do you realize," asked the portly lobbyist gravely, "that up at the state college men and women students have to use the same curriculum?"

The legislator looked startled. "And the boys and girls often matriculate together?"

"No!"

The lobbyist came closer and whispered, "And a young lady student can be forced at any to show a male professor her thesis?"

NO TIME TO TALK

A YOUNG MARRIED couple lived across the street from a shapely blonde widow and when the husband ran over to borrow something, it usually took him a lot longer than his wife thought it should. Once while he was over at the widow's, the wife called on the telephone and after a considerable delay, the widow answered.

"I'd like to know," said the wife in a jealous rage, "why it takes my husband so long to get something over there!"

"So would I," replied the widow, sweetly, "And this constant interruption isn't helping any either."

MOUNTAINEER IS UP A TREE

A man who lives in the Blue Ridge Mountains is facing a problem that really has him treed. Or at least stumped.

His wife received an advertising folder from a big department store in a big city, offering a fancy line of exclusive creations by an exclusive dress designer.

The creations were priced up to $250 and were modeled in the flossy folder by lovely, skinny, sad-faced girls who for some reason were shown perched precariously in the tops of bare trees, or on various levels of bare tree branches.

The man's wife, of course, was interested in the dresses -- so much that he wrote the department store a letter.

Frankly, he told the store, his wife had never paid as much as $250 for a dress to climb trees in. But she realized, he said, that a well-dressed woman naturally wants to be well-dressed, no matter where she is or what she is doing.

Furthermore, he said, both he and his wife realized that when a woman is climbing a tree, or even just sitting high up in one, she is apt to be noticed and wants to be presentable.

"But we do have a question," he wrote. "In our yard are several kinds of trees -- tulip, pine, fir, walnut, hickory nut, apple, plum and dogwood.

"Now: Is there a specific $250 dress for climbing or sitting in a specific tree? Or do you have an all-purpose $250 dress that may be worn to climb or sit in ANY tree?

"You can understand," the man went on, "that if we were to pay $250 for a dress for our wife to climb trees in, we wouldn't want her to get up there and discover she was wearing the wrong thing. We mountain folk are proud, gentleman -- real proud."

The man had still another question.

"Can you recommend," he asked, "a good place in this area for my wife to take a refresher course in tree climbin? She hasn't climbed a tree in years, she tells me -- not since she was a little girl. And she seems a little uncertain as to how well she could do it.

"She says that so far as she can recall, she never climbed a tree in a $250 dress when she was a kid. And she can't remember anyone else who did."

Well, the man has received no answer from the department store. And he has come to the conclusion that the folks who make and sell those dresses DON'T KNOW what to tell him!

He just can't understand it.

GRAMMARIANS disagree violently whether different should be followed by from or than. Either can be equally well defended by examples from the writings of the best writers.

Bergen Evans, in a Dictionary of Contemporary American English, cites a sentence written by John Maynard Keynes: how different things appear in Washington than in London. In this example the substitution of from would produce an awkward construction. In Great Britain to is often used, as in different to mine.

Doc. Duncan Says

Don't look now, but birth control advocates could be flirting with the undertaker for themselves and the world. The Asian Flu at the close of war No. one took 20,000,000 lives, 548,000 in the U.S.A. in the shortest length of time since the flood. We have read where it was responsible for ending that war, but we have never read who or what caused it. We have always had our opinion that only the Lord could have done the job before nuclear bombs was invented. That we have bombs, cocked and primed as of today, that could kill 20 million at one blast no one doubts, and that our side is saying by act and deed that we are ready to use them.

We could wake up some bright morning to learn the world population would have to start from scratch again like it did after the flood. If we happened to wake up, that is.

H. L. Hunt Says

FABIAN SOCIALISM

Today, Fabian Socialism may be a greater threat to freedom in this country than is Communism. Since writing my book, FABIANS FIGHT FREEDOM, many people have written to me, wanting to know more about this menace.

Although United States citizens would never vote Communism in, they have, in fact, already voted Fabian Socialism in. This is indeed a strange paradox because any American who is sincerely anti-communist must be fearful of Socialism.

Unfortunately, many of today's leaders in politics, religion and education (as well as many businessmen) have never learned or understood the long-range strategic goals of Communism. They have failed to recognize that Communism is a long-range planned society; that it is a spiritual evil, not just another political power!

This evil spirit is always on the offensive in every part of the world, and the United States is always forced to respond. There is no division of interests between Moscow Communism and Red Communism, despite an attempt by the communists to make Americans believe this is true.

In a socialistic form of government, Christianity is always weakened; under Communism it is persecuted and eventually extinguished.

Capitalism is the only form of government under which religion and individual freedom exist meaningfully. Communism is a deadly evil that eats away at the Church, and destroys initiative.

Socialism is but a perversion of Christianity, a pretense of trying to save mankind by superimposing help under the name of welfare from the outside. HLH.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON-- The FBI is not exactly holding its breath, but some of its agents are worried that U. S. Judge Oliver Gasch will rule that J. Edgar Hoover has to testify in the sensational case of bugging at the Sheraton - Carlton hotel, involving the conversations of Bobby Baker, former Secretary of State and righthand man to Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

Hoover himself is reported not to be losing any sleep. He knows that Judge Gasch, a strait - laced public servant who calls the shots as he sees them, has spent much of his career as a public prosecutor, and prosecutors lean toward the FBI.

But, meanwhile, there are some amazing developments in the eavesdropping on Bobby Baker and his friend Fred Black, the public relations man who has won a new trial because the FBI romped over his constitutional rights. Black had been convicted of tax evasion, until the justice department went before the supreme court to make the embarrassing confession that J. Edgar Hoover had been eavesdropping and wire tapping for years, apparently without the knowledge of the attorney general.

One development in the bugging of the Sheraton - Carlton is that the FBI agents also listened in on conversations in the VIP suite, where foreign visitors were entertained.

The Carlton is located only a step across Lafayette Square from the White House and is convenient for the entertainment of VIP's.

These visitors will now be interested in learning that for three months, Feb. 7 to April 25, 1963, every remark they made in suite 434-36 was listened to by American agents 24 hours a day.

This was because Fred Black's suite was next door -- 438 - 440 -- and the eavesdropping equipment which the FBI installed was so strong that it picked up conversation in the neighboring VIP suite.

The United States has long been critical of police - state methods by Communist nations and at one time accused the Soviet government of placing a bug in the American Emassy. This was over twenty years ago. Today if a bug were found in the Moscow hotel suite of an American visitor there would be an international uproar.

Note -- This year President Tito of Yugoslavia fired the Vice President of Yugoslavia, Aleksander Rankovic, because he had engaged in wire tapping. Today the Communist world is having the laugh on the United States -- thanks to Hoover.

WILL FBI BE PROSECUTED?

Another important development in the Bobby Baker case is the fact that the FBI has now violated his constitutional rights. This has been officially stipulated by William O. Bittman, Justice Department attorney who is contesting the case against Baker.

Reason for the stiuplation was that the Justice Department was trying to dodge the fact that J. Edgar Hoover has got himself in a position where the FBI can be prosecuted either for housebreaking or violation of constitutional rights. The latter is a felony with a punishment up to ten years in jail.

At present the FBI is being prosecuted criminally in Nevada, where it placed the equivalent of 125 wire taps, in collaboration with the Central Telephone Company of Nevada, also a defendant.

It should be noted in fairness that FBI men are extremely efficient and carry out orders. They should not be blamed personally. Nevertheless a criminal violation is a criminal violation.

How J. Edgar Hoover and the Justice Department are going to get around this law violation remains to be seen. For the Justice Department which is in charge of enforcing the law, will be in the position of prosecuting an arm of the Justice Department, the FBI. In Nevada this is not the case because state law is involved. But, in the district of Columbia, federal law is involved and the Justice Department is entrusted with enforcing it.

HOOVER'S CHARMED LIFE

The Justice Department is now under acting Attorney General Ramsey Clark, an able young man who took over when Nicholas Katzenbach was transferred to be Under Secretary of State. There has been speculation that Katzenbach's demotion was due to the fact that he ok'd the public confession of Hoover's wire tapping. Such an admission had never been made before, though long suspected.

So far Hoover has led a charmed life. He has a great career back in the crime-busting days. But ever since President Johnson continued him in office two years beyond statutory retirement at the age of 70, troubles have piled up for Hoover. The President will have another decision to make in about thirty days, when Hoover reaches his 72nd birthday, Jan. 1, 1967.

Ironically Hoover has put himself in the position of probably saving the prosecution of the President's one - time friend Bobby Baker by listening in on his conversations.

This is because Baker's attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, contends that the Justice Department has nullified its case against Baker by violating his constitutional rights though eavesdropping.

The Justice Department counters by arguing that it listened in on only eleven of Baker's conversations and that these were not important to the income tax indictments subsequently brought against him. Just how the Justice Department can sort out certain wiretapped conversations from others, and claim that only eleven are germane to the case, is a fine point of law which remains to be decided by the courts.

Such are the problems when a government resorts to police state methods.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

White House Staff Angers Labor Leaders

Washington, D. C.: -- During his sentimental Asian journey, President Johnson relaxed with his favorite hobby -- the telephone. He called transcontinental to keep atop the election campaigns. Amongst those with whom he chatted were several labor leaders, whom he urged to swing more heavily into some state battles -- especially Texas.

These labor leaders are devoted to the President, personally and politically. They, in turn, therefore called their regional colleagues. But at this point the action slowed.

It slowed because, unknown to the President, many labor leaders -- and their anonymous Washington specialists -- resent what they now dub "the brush off treatment" they say they're getting from the young White House staff, cabinet members and a string of executive agency officials.

They claim their communication lines with the White House staff are clogged. They can't get through. And when they do, they say, they really have no one to talk to who understands them.

Their argument is that the younger generation of White House aides has no empathy or identity with the older generation of labor leaders. Instead, the White House staff, according to union chiefs who have been accustomed for years to call in directly, looks upon them as stodgy old men.

Recently the leader of a powerful maritime union telephoned a White House aide and got into a brawl so loud over a piece of legislation that they could have heard each other without benefit of the Bell System.

It is not generally known, but there is a large corps of labor men who do nothing but deal with the White House and the government for their unions. In the past, these men have been simply a dial away from the White House on many matters -- a bill, a bid for a dinner invitation for their chief, or just arrangements for a quick tour. Now these channels are clogged and sticky, most of the labor contact men say. When they get together, they swap stories on how tough it is to do business with the White House staffers these days.

Furthermore, their feuds are proliferating. There's bitterness on the cabinet level -- with the Labor Dept. because, say they, it has become a vast social service agency and "nothing like the old department which worked with us." There's anger with the Commerce Dept. for a phone book full of reasons.

There is resentment over the actions of the National Mediation Service, the agency which handles the machinists and railroad unions. All this is just a starter.

To these could be added a long string of independent agencies which have quasi-judicial authority and have antagonized powerful unions such as the railroad brotherhoods, the militant machinists, the politically polished seafarers etc., etc.

This had its impact on the '66 elections -- and may affect '68. Why?

"The resentment is on the working level," said one AFL-CIO vice president who recently had fought it out on the phone with a White House aide. "That's where the campaign troops come from -- or don't come from. All of these federal agencies and the Cabinet group, which I say are harassing us, are a source of great dissatisfaction. There's a lot of friction.

"So a lot of troops just did not come out at election time. And that's where elections are won or lost -- right on the production line.

"Just ask the machinists why they're mad at the Mediation Service. They can't get it to move. Or ask some of our national unions which have 10 or 15 cases going regularly against us because of Labor Dept. or Justice Dept. action.

"The big thing is that neither we nor the fellows we keep in Washington to lobby or make contacts have anybody to talk to in the White House as we always had. We just can't go calling Lyndon Johnson, can we?"

Until recently, the second line of labor's command and their contact men could phone former press secretary George Reedy or special counsel Mike Feldman. In the Kennedy administration there was Ralph Dungan, now ambassador to Chile.

And before that labor had its own close friend, the late, jovial Jim Mitchell and press secretary Jim Hagerty. And before that there was an "assistant president in charge of labor" -- John Steelman.

That's what the labor men want now -- a White House contact man who will understand "the movement," and "not be out of the younger intellectual generation among whom it is fashionable to believe us to be antediluvian.

"They should know that resentment is going right down the line. They may have to get their own campaigners onto the streets in the future."

Bartholic Family Lives In 16-Bedroom Ranch House

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) —A 16-bedroom ranch house is hardly the home for an average family, but then the Edward J. Bartholics are hardly the average family.

Two and one-half years ago the Bartholics, then living near Redmond, Ore., heard through a missionary friend of the plight of a Mexican woman in Juarez, across the border from El Paso.

The poverty-stricken woman had a 16-month-old baby who was sickly and weighed just 9 pounds. The baby's legs were deformed by rickets and he was never expected to walk, if he lived.

The Bartholics -- Ed, 67, and Oletha, 57—adopted the child. They have since moved to the El Paso area and adopted nine other Mexican children. The family lives at the Angel Wing Ranch in Socorro, about 150 miles from El Paso.

The Bartholics—he is a former insurance and lumber man—had eight children of their own, but the only child still living at home is Carlieta, 16. Their adopted children are from three separate families.

Timmy, the youngster they first adopted, is now a normal healthy 4-year-old. The Bartholice, nondenominational missionaries, have adopted his two brothers and two sisters as well -- Joseph, 3; Crystal, 9; April 12, and Jim, 14.

Diane, 11, and Lisa, 7, are natural sisters, while the third family unit includes Janice, 12; David, 7; and Lorie, 4. Their eldest sister, Angie, was not adopted by the Bartholics, but arrangements have been made for her to live in their home and attend Socorro High School.

The five-acre ranch which the family calls home lends itself well to the large family needs. There is room for 13 Shetland ponies. Bartholic hitches them to a red stage coach for children's rides at county fairs, rodeos and shopping centers. Family pets include two cats, two dogs and three goats.

Although the Bartholics are Protestant, they leave the faith of each youngster to the child's own choosing. The children from Roman Catholic homes attend their own church.

Language differences have caused no particular problem for the family. The Bartholics said the children are in different bilingual stages of development and those who still speak Spanish serve as interpreters for their parents.

Through their own newsletter, which has on its mailing list religious and social workers throughout the country, they appeal for contributions of money and clothing to help other needy children both in Mexico and the United States.

The Bartholics say they have no intention of becoming an adoption agency, but have offered to help bring together people interested in taking a Mexican child with mothers willing to give up their children to better their circumstances.

"We have taken Mexican children because, at our ages, we could not adopt any here," Mrs. Bartholic said.

"We are amply repaid in the satisfaction that comes from seeing these children begin to live again. We have not taken them away from their mothers. On the contrary, when they are grown, they may return to Mexico if they wish."

Class Plans Christmas Party

The Dorcas Sunday School Class of the Trinity Baptist church met with Mrs. Roy Mackley Tuesday. Sixteen attended.

Mrs. Marshall McGill, president, was in charge. The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Lewis Conley. Roll call was answered by giving some Christmas idea or helpful hint for the holidays.

The minutes and treasurer's report were given by Mrs. Howard McGill. Reports were made by the group captains.

A Christmas offering will be given and used for a needy cause.

Each member will also bring a fun gift from her home to be exchanged and opened during the social hour of the party.

Mrs. Milem Limbaugh gave a devotional on Thanksgiving using Psalms 100 for the scripture portion.

The meeting was adjourned with a prayer by Mrs. Truman Bennett.

A social hour followed with the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hunt, serving hot spiced tea, cookies and fruit cake.

Jeffery Kelley Is Three Years Old

MOREHOUSE -- the Morehouse - Delmo Romper Room gave a birthday party for Jeffery Kelley Nov. 15. He was three years old.

Those who attended were Carl Amerson, Kim Carmack, Allen Cole, Bud Finney, Vickey Graham, Terry King, Kelly Lawrence, Debbie Sterling and Johnny Sparks.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kelley.

For soft bread crumbs use fresh bread. Working with two or three slices at a time, remove the crusts. Cut soft centers into match - like sticks. With fingers, tear strips into course crumbs. Two slices torn and lightly packed make one cup of crumbs.

Glue a piece of cork on the top of your recipe file box. With a knife cut a slit across the cork at a slight angle and insert recipe cards as you use them. Cards will stand at a readable angle.

Girl's Friendly Society Will Disband Thursday

ST. LOUIS -- The Girl's Friendly Society in the Episcopal Diocese of Missouri will disband Thursday by action of the diocesan G. F. S. board of directors, Mrs. William Moll, president, announced today.

The diocesan G. F. S. board acted after the Executive Council of the Episcopal Church announced plans to close the national G. F. S. office in New York on Jan. 1. The 90-year-old organization for girls would then be incorporated into the Department of Christian Education of the Executive Council.

An expanded activities program for youth, both boys and girls, would follow the coalition, the announcement from national church headquarters stated. Plans call for intensifying the Department of Christian Education's work in the training of leaders and expansion of its preparation of resource materials "to suit the variety of situations to be met in youth work in a changing society."

The Diocese of Missouri's G. F. S. board has appointed Mrs. Moll and Miss Genevieve Albers, treasurer, to work with Bishop George L. Cadigan in making final disposition of the assets of the organization, which has been a part of the diocesan program for 50 years.

The first Girl's Friendly Society in Missouri was organized at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, St. Louis, in 1916. The purpose of the group has been to provide leadership training for girls, whether Episcopalian or of other denominations.

Founded in London in 1875, the G. F. S. was brought to the United States two years later with the organization of a parish society in Lowell, Mass. It grew to include groups in every state of the nation and in 31 countries.

Mrs. Harold Woodward, St. Louis Episcopal lay leader, was the first chairman of the World Council of Girl's Friendly Societies, which was organized at a conference on the Isle of Wight in 1955. From 1961 to 1964, Mrs. Woodward served as executive director of the national G. F. S.

The president of the national G. F. S. board at the time of the disbanding of the organization, Mrs. William A. Atkins, Denver, Colo., is a former St. Louisan.

Bartholic Family Lives In 16-Bedroom Ranch House

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) —A 16-bedroom ranch house is hardly the home for an average family, but then the Edward J. Bartholics are hardly the average family.

Two and one-half years ago the Bartholics, then living near Redmond, Ore., heard through a missionary friend of the plight of a Mexican woman in Juarez, across the border from El Paso.

The poverty-stricken woman had a 16-month-old baby who was sickly and weighed just 9 pounds. The baby's legs were deformed by rickets and he was never expected to walk, if he lived.

The Bartholics -- Ed, 67, and Oletha, 57—adopted the child. They have since moved to the El Paso area and adopted nine other Mexican children. The family lives at the Angel Wing Ranch in Socorro, about 150 miles from El Paso.

The Bartholics—he is a former insurance and lumber man—had eight children of their own, but the only child still living at home is Carlieta, 16. Their adopted children are from three separate families.

Timmy, the youngster they first adopted, is now a normal healthy 4-year-old. The Bartholice, nondenominational missionaries, have adopted his two brothers and two sisters as well -- Joseph, 3; Crystal, 9; April 12, and Jim, 14.

Diane, 11, and Lisa, 7, are natural sisters, while the third family unit includes Janice, 12; David, 7; and Lorie, 4. Their eldest sister, Angie, was not adopted by the Bartholics, but arrangements have been made for her to live in their home and attend Socorro High School.

The five-acre ranch which the family calls home lends itself well to the large family needs. There is room for 13 Shetland ponies. Bartholic hitches them to a red stage coach for children's rides at county fairs, rodeos and shopping centers. Family pets include two cats, two dogs and three goats.

Although the Bartholics are Protestant, they leave the faith of each youngster to the child's own choosing. The children from Roman Catholic homes attend their own church.

Language differences have caused no particular problem for the family. The Bartholics said the children are in different bilingual stages of development and those who still speak Spanish serve as interpreters for their parents.

Through their own newsletter, which has on its mailing list religious and social workers throughout the country, they appeal for contributions of money and clothing to help other needy children both in Mexico and the United States.

The Bartholics say they have no intention of becoming an adoption agency, but have offered to help bring together people interested in taking a Mexican child with mothers willing to give up their children to better their circumstances.

"We have taken Mexican children because, at our ages, we could not adopt any here," Mrs. Bartholic said.

"We are amply repaid in the satisfaction that comes from seeing these children begin to live again. We have not taken them away from their mothers. On the contrary, when they are grown, they may return to Mexico if they wish."

Class Plans Christmas Party

The Dorcas Sunday School Class of the Trinity Baptist church met with Mrs. Roy Mackley Tuesday. Sixteen attended.

Mrs. Marshall McGill, president, was in charge. The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Lewis Conley. Roll call was answered by giving some Christmas idea or helpful hint for the holidays.

The minutes and treasurer's report were given by Mrs. Howard McGill. Reports were made by the group captains.

A Christmas offering will be given and used for a needy cause.

Each member will also bring a fun gift from her home to be exchanged and opened during the social hour of the party.

Mrs. Milem Limbaugh gave a devotional on Thanksgiving using Psalms 100 for the scripture portion.

The meeting was adjourned with a prayer by Mrs. Truman Bennett.

A social hour followed with the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hunt, serving hot spiced tea, cookies and fruit cake.

The next meeting will be the Christmas party with Mrs. Hunt Dec. 12.

Tack a rubber pad to the bottom rung of your stepladder. Then as you back down, you will know when you hit the last step.

Roll dates in flour before you cut them. The slices will not stick together, and will not cling to the knife or scissors. Let the flour used be part of that called for in the recipe.

Skins Set Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This was the National Football League on a whacky Sunday afternoon:

Then there was St. Louis' 6-3 field goal victory over Pittsburgh—a finesse victory.

Washington Coach Otto Graham pushed his Redskins into the NFL record book with three seconds left when he sent in Charlie Gogolak for a 29-yard field goal that erased Los Angeles' 16-year record of 70 points in a single game.

"In a crazy game like this," shrugged Graham, "what's another three points?"

In other games Sunday, Green Bay opened a two-game lead in the Western Conference with only three games to play by beating Minnesota 28-16 while Los Angeles was stunning Baltimore 23-7. Chicago defeated Atlanta 23-6.

Defensive back Brig Owens scored two touchdowns and set up two others as the Redskins took the Giants apart. Washington's A. D. Whitfield scored three times and Charlie Taylor twice as the two teams combined for a record-smashing 16 touchdowns and 113 points. New York's Gary Wood threw for three TDs and ran for a fourth.

Defensive back Herb Adderley was the hero for the Packers, partially blocking a punt to set up one touchdown and then intercepting a Fran Tarkenton pass to choke off a late Minnesota comeback.

Green Bay was protecting a 21-16 lead with two minutes left when Adderley picked off Tarkenton's pass after the Vikings had moved to midfield. Moments later, rookie Jim Grabowski raced 36 yards with the wrapup touchdown.

Los Angeles gave the Packers a boost by knocking off Baltimore - the Colts' second loss as many weeks. The Rams limited Gary Cuozzo and a sub-par Johnny Unitas to only nine completed passes. Unitas, who injured his right shoulder two weeks ago and suffered five interceptions last Sunday, played only briefly in the second half and lost 20 yards passing.

Dick Bass jolted the Colts for 126 yards in 30 carries while Baltimore's running game managed only 33 yards in 18 attempts against Los Angeles' front wall.

Gale Sayers, running over a mud-soaked field, shredded Atlanta defenses for 172 yards in 19 carries as the Bears defeated the Falcons. Sayers also gained 63 yards on five passes.

Army Surprises Navy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It appears as if Alabama, the only major unbeaten and untied team, will shoot the works against Auburn at Birmingham, Ala., on Saturday in an effort to retain the national collegiate football championship.

The Crimson Tide ranked third behind Notre Dame and Michigan State in last week's Associated Press poll. The Sugar Bowl-bound Tide has a 9-0-0 record to 9-0-1 for Notre Dame and Michigan State.

"I just wish the players and I knew what the people who vote wanted and we'd do it," Bear Bryant, Alabama coach, said Saturday after Alabama crushed Southern Mississippi 34-0 at Mobile and Notre Dame routed Southern California 51-0 at Los Angeles.

"This is by far the best college football team I've ever had and it's the best college team I've ever seen," said Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian after the Irish had rebounded from their 10-10 tie with Michigan State to drub the Trojans.

"This is our most important victory," Parseghian said. "I think our team demonstrated it is No. 1."

"Back in January when we were voted No. 1 our players started preparing to win it again this year. In September we were voted No. 1 in the preseason poll and we thought that meant they expected us to win. Well, we've been winning."

Army's 20-7 upset victory over Navy at Philadelphia shared the headlines with Notre Dame and Alabama in the final big weekend of the regular season last Saturday.

In other major results Georgia surprised Georgia Tech 23-14, Southern Methodist blanked Texas Christian 21-0; Miami, Fla., upset Florida 21-16, Baylor beat Rice 21-14, Clemson whipped South Carolina 35-10, Mississippi downed Mississippi State 24-0.

ARMY, HAVING its most successful football season since 1958, defeated Navy, 20-7, before 102,000 fans at John F. Kennedy stadium in Philadelphia. Chuck Jarvis (#20), Army's sophomore fullback, runs 49 yards for the first score, with an able assist from John Nerdahl (#63), who cleared the field for him.

The "Little Devil" is back at it again after a day off Friday. He has been hitting at a .879 clip and hopes that the tournament hungry teams don't put a wrench into his prediction light bulb.

Tournament action starts tonight and we see two upsets, one in each tourney.

We see Poplar Bluff knocking off number one seeded Cape Central in the SEMO tourney and Bernie taking an upset win over third seeded Malden in the Bernie tourney.

Here we go . . . tonight's tournament action.

BERNIE TOURNEY

Bloomfield vs. New Madrid -- The Wildcats should have little trouble with the winless Indians. . . Bloomfield by 15. Bloomfield 64, New Madrid 49.

Malden vs. Bernie -- Since the Green Wave opens its season tonight it probably will be a little ragged so that's why we give the surging Mules the home court edge of one point. . . Bernie 67, Malden 66.

SEMO TOURNEY

Cape Central vs. Poplar Bluff -- The Mules showed strength in its two previous starts while the Tigers have yet to play... so we pick the Mules in an upset win of six points. Poplar Bluff 68, Cape Central 62.

Jackson vs. Sikeston -- Either team could have been seeded number 4, so far that reason we think the Bulldogs will open their 1966-67 season with a win for coach N. P. McDaniels. Sikeston 68, Jackson 54.

Matthews Remains Atop Standard Poll

Matthews' Pirates polled 12 of a possible 14 first place votes and retained their position in the Daily Standard high school basketball poll.

The Pirates are seeded number one in the Bernie invitational tournament this week and take on the tall Parma quintet Tuesday night at 8:30 p.m.

Puxico, which got the other two first place votes from the panel of high school coaches, is in the No. 2 spot. Matthews polled 138 votes, while Puxico got 127.

Bloomfield remained in the No. 3 slot while Lilbourn moved to fourth and Hayti dropped out of the elite 10.

Poplar Bluff remained atop the class L ratings while Matthews is No. 1 in Class M and Advance took over first in the Class S division, over Scott Central. Parma fell from fourth to fifth while Clarkton moved to third and Bell City fell to fourth.

Cards Win, Set Up Showdown In Dallas Sunday

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, who have won three of their last four games by a total of 13 points, are back in a tie for first place with Dallas in the Eastern Division of 2-1 records and played to a 10-10 tie earlier in St. Louis. Pittsburgh is now 3-7-1 for the season and plays at Philadelphia Sunday.

Rookie Coach Charlie Winner, noting that some are referring to his Cardinals as the Los Angeles Dodgers of football, said:

"I don't care if they compare us to the Los Angeles Dodgers in baseball just so long as we win . . . the Dodgers won didn't they?"

And with place kicker Jim Bakken the leading hitter, the Cardinals are scoring more like a baseball team. St. Louis hasn't scored a touchdown in two games.

Bakken kicked field goals of 26 and 15 yards in Sunday's game. Two weeks earlier he kicked three field goals as Pittsburgh humiliated St. Louis 30-9.

Mike Clark put Pittsburgh's only score on the board in the first quarter on a 47-yard field goal. He missed another attempt at a three-pointer that would have tied the game.

"I thought Nofsinger controlled the game pretty well," Winner said. "He overthrew his receivers a couple of times, but then it was pretty windy out there."

"My passing still was subpar," Nofsinger said, "but I think the wind caused at least three of my passes to be overthrown.

As throughout the season, the St. Louis defense rose to the occasion.

Abe Woodson snatched a Pittsburgh pass at the St. Louis 22 in the waning seconds to give the Cards the football and end a Pittsburgh effort to get into field goal position.

Nofsinger best summed up the Cardinals' attitude:

"We were glad to win this game. I don't care what the score is as long as we win."

McMullin Helps Bears To Title

John McMullin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John McMullin Sr., 655 Park, Sikeston, has completed his junior year of football at Washington University in St. Louis.

McMullin and his teammates finished out the season Nov. 19 at Lexington, Va., where they beat the Generals of Washington and Lee 3-0, to give the Bears a 7-2 season record.

McMullin played his high school football under Coaches William Sapp, and Roger Sherman at Sikeston high school, where he graduated in 1964.

Skins Set Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This was the National Football League on a whacky Sunday afternoon:

Then there was St. Louis' 6-3 field goal victory over Pittsburgh—a finesse victory.

Washington Coach Otto Graham pushed his Redskins into the NFL record book with three seconds left when he sent in Charlie Gogolak for a 29-yard field goal that erased Los Angeles' 16-year record of 70 points in a single game.

"In a crazy game like this," shrugged Graham, "what's another three points?"

In other games Sunday, Green Bay opened a two-game lead in the Western Conference with only three games to play by beating Minnesota 28-16 while Los Angeles was stunning Baltimore 23-7. Chicago defeated Atlanta 23-6.

Defensive back Brig Owens scored two touchdowns and set up two others as the Redskins took the Giants apart. Washington's A. D. Sports Corner

by Ron Jaynes

The "Little Devil" is back at it again after a day off Friday. He has been hitting at a .879 clip and hopes that the tournament hungry teams don't put a wrench into his prediction light bulb.

Tournament action starts tonight and we see two upsets, one in each tourney.

We see Poplar Bluff knocking off number one seeded Cape Central in the SEMO tourney and Bernie taking an upset win over third seeded Malden in the Bernie tourney.

Here we go . . . tonight's tournament action.

BERNIE TOURNEY

Bloomfield vs. New Madrid -- The Wildcats should have little trouble with the winless Indians. . . Bloomfield by 15. Bloomfield 64, New Madrid 49.

Malden vs. Bernie -- Since the Green Wave opens its season tonight it probably will be a little ragged so that's why we give the surging Mules the home court edge of one point. . . Bernie 67, Malden 66.

SEMO TOURNEY

Cape Central vs. Poplar Bluff -- The Mules showed strength in its two previous starts while the Tigers have yet to play. . . so we pick the Mules in an upset win of six points. Poplar Bluff 68, Cape Central 62.

Jackson vs. Sikeston -- Either team could have been seeded number 4, so far that reason we think the Bulldogs will open their 1966-67 season with a win for coach N. P. McDaniels. Sikeston 68, Jackson 54.

Cards Win, Set Up Showdown In Dallas Sunday

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, who have won three of their last four games by a total of 13 points, are back in a tie for first place with Dallas in the Eastern Division of 2-1 records and played to a 10-10 tie earlier in St. Louis. Pittsburgh is now 3-7-1 for the season and plays at Philadelphia Sunday.

Rookie Coach Charlie Winner, noting that some are referring to his Cardinals as the Los Angeles Dodgers of football, said:

"I don't care if they compare us to the Los Angeles Dodgers in baseball just so long as we win . . . the Dodgers won didn't they?"

And with place kicker Jim Bakken the leading hitter, the Cardinals are scoring more like a baseball team. St. Louis hasn't scored a touchdown in two games.

Bakken kicked field goals of 26 and 15 yards in Sunday's game. Two weeks earlier he kicked three field goals as Pittsburgh humiliated St. Louis 30-9.

Mike Clark put Pittsburgh's only score on the board in the first quarter on a 47-yard field goal. He missed another attempt at a three-pointer that would have tied the game.

"I thought Nofsinger controlled the game pretty well," Winner said. "He overthrew his receivers a couple of times, but then it was pretty windy out there."

"My passing still was subpar," Nofsinger said, "but I think the wind caused at least three of my passes to be overthrown.

As throughout the season, the St. Louis defense rose to the occasion.

Abe Woodson snatched a Pittsburgh pass at the St. Louis 22 in the waning seconds to give the Cards the football and end a Pittsburgh effort to get into field goal position.

Nofsinger best summed up the Cardinals' attitude:

"We were glad to win this game. I don't care what the score is as long as we win."

McMullin Helps Bears To Title

John McMullin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John McMullin Sr., 655 Park, Sikeston, has completed his junior year of football at Washington University in St. Louis.

McMullin and his teammates finished out the season Nov. 19 at Lexington, Va., where they beat the Generals of Washington and Lee 3-0, to give the Bears a 7-2 season record.

McMullin played his high school football under Coaches William Sapp, and Roger Sherman at Sikeston high school, where he graduated in 1964.

Cotton Prices Hold Steady

HAYTI -- Spot cotton prices were mostly steady on local markets in Missouri last week, according to the United States Division of Agriculture's cotton division of the consumer and marketing service.

Demand weakened somewhat, but was still fairly strong for this stage of the season. Prices averaged about 150 points above CCC loan rates. Farmers offered their current ginnings freely, and buying was active at most locations. The qualities most desired by buyers were low middling and higher white and light spotted grades with 1-1/16 inches and longer staples. Buyers also sought out cotton with 3.5 and higher micronaire readings. Cotton miking below 3.5 was discounted in price in most cases. Gin yard prices for cottonseed were steady and ranged from $60 to $66 per ton at the various gin locations.

The quality of cotton classed last week was considerably lower than in preceding weeks. The percentage of light spotted and spotted grades rose sharply. Staple length averaged shorter than in the preceding week, but was still considered good for this stage of the season. Sixty-four per cent of the total samples classed had staples of 1-3/32 inches and longer.

Away down-town at the store,
I'll empty out my piggy bank-
'Cause that's what banks are for.

Oh dear, oh dear, oh dearie me,

That we'd find something else besides
Two big black buttons in it!

Oh, dear, whatever shall we do?
I know!...We'll find Aunt Jennie

Have saved an extra penny!

Now, Dolly, aren't you glad we did?

President's Ball Dec. 9

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Southeast Missouri legislators and civic leaders are among guests scheduled to attend the first annual President's Ball Dec. 9 at the Arena building in Cape Girardeau.

The ball is a charity event to raise funds for the Inter-Fraternity Council's scholarship foundation, which gives tuition scholarships to high school students planning to attend Southeast Missouri State College.

The ball also will honor Dr. Mark Scully, president of the college, who will be presented with an award recognizing his contribution to education in Southeast Missouri.

Congressman Paul Jones, of Missouri's 10th district State Sen. Al Spradling, State Rep. Marvin Proffer and Earl Mackey, Cape Girardeau Mayor Ronald Fisher and City Manager Paul Frederick are among those planning to attend.

Advance tickets are on sale at Cape Girardeau and Sikeston stores in addition to the student dean's office at the college.

Music for the ball will be provided by the Si Zentner orchestra. Formal dress will be optional. Dancing will be from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Featured at the ball will be the selection and crowning of Miss I. F. C. 1966 who will be selected from candidates nominated by college organizations. She will be selected by a panel of businessmen.

TRADITION
Lois K. Nelson

Ever since I can remember,
When came the Christmas Day,
The Warps have come together,

We went to Uncle Jules;
He farmed the old homestead,
Where my mother spent her childhood,

Preparing for the day,
Soaking and cooking lutefisk,
In the old Norwegian way.

The tables were heaped up high,
With food all different kinds,
Chicken and dressing, butterscotch pie,

The years have been many in number,
We cousins have long since grown.
We have found our place in the world,
And have children of our own.

But when Christmas again approaches,
We come from far and near,
Once more to be united,
And share in Christmas cheer,

Oh what a fine tradition,
To hold the family tie,

OFF-THE-FLOOR PLUMBING IS POPULAR

This year, more home buyers than ever before will select off-the-floor water closets for their bathrooms, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau says. Homemakers like them because they have a sleek, modern look and because they make cleaning the floor so much easier. They're available in all the decorator colors too.

What 6¢ can do.

The year was 1830. Money was needed to start an educational institution for women. So Mary Lyon traveled hundreds of miles explaining her idea and collecting. The total was 1800 separate subscriptions, most ranging from 6¢ to $1.

Not very much, even in 1830, but enough to start Mount Holyoke College.

Today most of us can give more than 6¢—or even a dollar—and though few of us can found a college, most of us can help keep one going.

He farmed the old homestead,
Where my mother spent her childhood,

Preparing for the day,
In the old Norwegian way.

The tables were heaped up high,
With food all different kinds,
Chicken and dressing, butterscotch pie,

The years have been many in number,
We cousins have long since grown.
We have found our place in the world,

But when Christmas again approaches,
We come from far and near,
Once more to be united,
And share in Christmas cheer,

To hold the family tie,
Knit in loyalty and devotion,

OFF-THE-FLOOR PLUMBING IS POPULAR

This year, more home buyers than ever before will select off-the-floor water closets for their bathrooms, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau says. Homemakers like them because they have a sleek, modern look and because they make cleaning the floor so much easier. They're available in all the decorator colors too.

What 6¢ can do.

The year was 1830. Money was needed to start an educational institution for women. So Mary Lyon traveled hundreds of miles explaining her idea and collecting. The total was 1800 separate subscriptions, most ranging from 6¢ to $1.

Not very much, even in 1830, but enough to start Mount Holyoke College.

Today most of us can give more than 6¢—or even a dollar—and though few of us can found a college, most of us can help keep one going.

Let's Head'em Off At The Pass

Address by Dr. William Campbell Douglass, State Chairman, Constitution Party of Florida, delivered at the State Convention in Tallahassee, Florida, on September 11, 1965.

You have all heard this famous admonition to "head 'em off at the pass." It has real meaning today. I'm sure you are all familiar with the American Flag Committee newsletter, the famous newsletter where the Committee predicted in 1956 that the Communists would get passed in 1965 the Voting Rights Bill, giving illiterates the right to vote. But there's something else about this newsletter that has been ignored, and I don't know why. It's been ignored by Conservatives as well as the Liberal press.

THE LINCOLN PROJECT

The newsletter mentioned in the '5[illegible] edition that the ultimate goal of the Lincoln Project was the developing of a new Communist-directed political party with its mass voting strength to be recruited from the join[illegible] of labor and racial minority blocs in conjunction with political church organizations and the Communists. And, of course, we saw this come to pass in the elections of 1964. Walter Reuther is leader of the Leftist coalition which includes Reuther's unions, the militant Negro movement and the Leftist leadership of the National Council of Churches and with support from the Communist Party. Through this coalition it was possible to produce over 60 percent of the votes for the Democratic ticket. This is according to the Committee of Christian Laymen - a very reliable group. So the prediction of the American Flag Committee came true in more ways than one.

Now, I think it would be interesting to point out to you at this time how the Communists could plan this in 1956 and see it bear fruit in 1965; how this Communist - promoted and Communist-created Voting Rights Bill could pass through our Congress. Reading again from the American Flag Committee Newsletter of Summer, 1965, in which they review what they said in December, 1956: "The roster of those Senators and Representatives voting to implement the Lincoln Communist Project will immediately be seen to include the leadership and a considerable majority of the members of the Republican Party, which in AFC Letter No. 67 we reported as having passed irretrievably under the control of the liberal-internationalist coalition, which is in fact neither Republican nor Democrat, but governs in the masquerade of both...Every American active in the struggle to hold the line and ultimately roll back the forces of encroaching federal dictatorship must be appalled and dismayed to find 'Goldwater Republicans' of the esteem of Hickenlooper, Hruska, Mundt, Murphy, Simpson and Williams joining forces with GOP Leftists like Javits, Kuchel and Case, and the hard core ADA radical wing of the Democratic party, to tilt the elective process in the direction of our Nation's most dedicated enemies."

VOTING RIGHTS BILL

Can anyone really honestly picture this Republican Party forthrightly opposing the dictatorial leadership of the AFL/CIO? Will they vigorously oppose the Marxist-dominated National Council of Churches or the revolutionary Negro groups? The Republican Party obviously does not have the backbone to meet head-on with this revolutionary coalition. I think this was certainly proven by the vote on the Voting Rights Bill. But certainly, there are more of us than there are of them - if we can only get the "us's" organized in time. The American patriots, a rapidly growing army, are yearning for a political party that will face the issue and say: "This Communist revolution must stop. We are not a government by revolution, as in South America, but a government of Constitutional law and order."

I came to the conclusion, after the Goldwater disaster, that simply grabbing an elephant by its trunk does not assure you of capturing the entire beast. It seems to me that the greatest lesson we should have learned from the 1964 debacle was that capturing a party only at the top leads to frustration and disaster.

LIBERAL CONTROL OF G.O.P.

Let me clarify why that is so. I had the opportunity last July of discussing the 1964 election with patriots from all corners of our land. Their stories were chillingly similar; the Goldwater effort was run by disgruntled Democrats and amateur Republicans. The professional Republicans at the precinct level sat on their hands from coast to coast. I personally do not see how anyone can conceive of uprooting, by 1968, or by 1978, these local people who control the local party machinery. I can assure you that if the Republican Party in your area is controlled by right wing patriots it is an exception to the general rule. It is far easier to form a new party from the ground up than to try to capture the Republican Party from the ground up. A tong war of that nature would be extremely frustrating and entirely futile.

Our educational efforts along non-political lines must, of course, continue. All of the patriotic educational organizations must continue to receive our vigorous support. But along with the massive educational effort that is now underway, the new party must develop along parallel lines. The new-found converts to the anti-Communist cause must have a reliable political vehicle to which they can eventually turn in order to convert their new-found knowledge into effective political action. If the education continues, but the party falters, we will probably become the best educated bunch of corpses in the history of the world.

POLITICAL ACTION NECESSARY

If we fail, the historian of tomorrow will say "Unlike Greece and Rome, the people finally caught on before it was too late - or so it appeared. They worked furiously to inform people of the problems that faced them and they succeeded in doing so. Most of them were better informed on Constitutional law than many lawyers - they read the Dan Smoot Report. They were better informed on American history than the recent graduates of the colleges and the new breed of so-called historians because they went back and read the old history books, Websters Unadulterated and the McGuffey Readers. They wrote untold tons of letters to their so-called Representatives, but they couldn't seem to take effective political action and so they sank into the graveyard of nations, very wise but just as dead, nonetheless." End of chapter in the history book of the future - unless we do something about it.

Now let's take a brief look at the forces at work to keep the Republican Party under firm Socialist control: The Committee for Forward-Looking Republicans, Republicans for Progress, The Committee of '68, The National Council of Republican Workshops, The Trumbull Society, Republican Advance, Ripon Society, National Negro Assembly, United Republicans of America, The American Conservative Union, The Republican Congressional Booster Club, The Free Society Association, (of which we'll say more later), the Council of Republican Organizations, The Leadership Foundation, Inc., and on, and on, and on - most of these organizations are run by members of the CFR or people so inclined. Now assuming that the right people were doing the doctoring of the Republican Party, and of course, they're not, is the Republican Party's record so good, so much better than the Democratic Party that it is really worth saving?

LIBERAL VOTING RECORDS OF REPUBLICANS

Let's take a brief look at the Dan Smoot Report of August 30th, 1965. Mr. Smoot reports that conservative ratings of 60 per cent or better were earned by 15 Republicans and 11 Democrats. Certainly not a dramatic difference. Only 4 Senators. 3 Democrats and 1 Republican, have earned Conservative ratings of 90 per cent or better. So, it looks like the Democrats there are three times better than the Republicans. In the House, Mr. Smoot reports that 16 men have 100 per cent Conservative voting records: 9 Republicans and 7 Democrats - certainly no statistical difference; certainly not a difference worth quibbling about. Now let's look at some of the bills passed recently:

The Civil Rights Act of 1964 is blatantly unconstitutional. One hundred House Republicans voted for or paired for this unconstitutional bill. Only 20 Republicans voted against this unconstitutional bill. Twenty-five Senate Republicans voted for; only five voted against. Is that a party of opposition?

Disarmament of the United States while Americans are dying in Viet Nam: Eighty-two House Republicans voted for or paired for this Bill; only 48 Republicans in the House voted against this treason. In the Senate 25 Republicans for suicide and only 7 against. Would you call that the party of opposition - an anit-Communist party?

ABE FORTAS

And the most disgusting example of the lack of courage and integrity and resolution in the Republican party was the appointment of one Abe Fortas to the Supreme Court. Abe Fortas, the man who has always "fixed" Lyndon Johnson's dirty deals; the man who has made a career of giving aid and comfort to the enemies of this country - Communists and fellow-travelers such as Owen Latimore, Lee Pressman, Alger Hiss. Mr. Fortas has three Communist-front affiliations of his own. Do you know how many of the Senate's 32 Republicans voted against this further defilement of the Supreme Court? Three!!! Three out of 32 Republicans had the simple courage to say no! If I sound emotional, I do not apologize for it. I think this is disgusting. The rest of them can't call themselves Conservatives; in fact, they can't even call themselves good Americans. I don't care how much pressure was applied.

MEDICARE

"As goes medicine, so goes the nation" is an old saying. Let me quote to you from Kent and Phoebe Courtney's wonderful little book, Johnson's Republicans. This is a masterpiece: "And what about the Republican performance in Congress regarding the Medicare Bill. Did the Republican Party form a solid wall of opposition, pointing out the dangers of this bill? No. They dreamed up a plan of their own which provided not only for hospitalization, but payment of doctor bills under a voluntary insurance financed partly by the Federal government which, of course, is still socialized medicine. Describing this maneuver, an editorial in the Omaha Evening World Herald said: 'This was to be the Republican way of doing things, not only to out-plar but to out-deliver the Democrats on this particular welfare program.'

"So, what happened? The Democrates merely stole the Republican version of the Medicare bill and added it to their own, leaving the Republicans in Congress to chase the will-of-the-wisp of 'me-too-ism.' "

Sixty-five Republicans voted for the Democrat-sponsored Medicare Bill, including Florida's only two Republican representatives, Mr. Cramer and Mr. Gurney. As goes medicine, so goes the nation, and we've been sold out. Only slightly more than half the Republicans in the House voted against the destruction of the greatest medical system in the history of the world.

THE FREE SOCIETY ASSOCIATION

Now, let's take a quick look at one Barry M. Goldwater. During the initial phase of the mayor's race in New York, Mr. Goldwater was asked what he thought of Mr. Lindsay's running for Mayor of the City of New York and would it be good for the Republican Party? Now, I don't have to tell you about Mr. Lindsay. This is a highly sophisticated audience and we know his pro-Communist record - practically 100 per cent pro-Communist, including trying to get rid of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Mr. Goldwater said that if Mr. Lindsay would only call himself a Republican, he would be good for the Republican Party! Well, not the Republican Party to which I used to belong but, of course, that party died with Robert Taft. Mr. Goldwater is no longer The Conscience of a Conservative, but a conservative who has lost his conscience.

The Free Society Association - I promised I'd come back t[illegible] that. Did you ever wonder why this organization got so much publicity? It was tremendous. Well, the Free Society Association is a front for the Council on Foreign Relations and Mr. Goldwater is heading up the FSA. The CFR, as you know, is the semi-secret group that works for world government and actually controls both parties. Mr. Strauss is a member of Goldwater's Free Society Association. He is also a member of the CFR; Lucius Clay, CFR; Clare Booth Luce, whose husband is in the CFR; Herbert Hoover, Jr., CFR; george Champion, CFR and so on. Wherever you find Republicans you will find the CFR - and vice versa. So we have another front for the Council on Foreign Relations and Mr. Goldwater is heading it up. EISENHOWER HEADS G.O.P.?

Recently they had a fund-raising campaign in Ohio. All the big-wigs of the Republican party went into the major cities of Ohio to raise funds for the Republican party. Barry Goldwater was not invited.

Recently, Senator Clark was asked, in an interview, who was the titular head of the Republican party. As you know the man who recently ran for the Presidency on the ticket is supposed to be the titular head. Senator Clark said: Mr. Eisenhower is the titular head of the Republican Party.

The emotional attachment to Senator Barry Goldwater has been great. He stood as our symbol, as our fearless leader, our knight on a white charger. I know of one lady who has only recently taken Barry's picture down from her bedroom wall. Only the other day she tossed away her bespectacled gold elephant lapel pin and, finally, her "Goldwater '64" bumper sticker, with the arrow pointing right, has worn away. It has been replaced by "Support Your Local Police" while she looks forlornly for a new leader - and a new party. It's all very sad and it reminds me of those great lines from a poem by Sarah Helen Whitman:

"Tell him I lingered on the Shore,
Where we parted, in sorrow, to meet nevermore;
The night wind blew cold on my desolate heart

And part we must from a man who has apparently become a Pied Piper for the Council on Foreign Relations and other leftwing elements of his party. We must part from the man and his party and face a grim reality: The reality of a powerful political phalanx composed of labor union czars bent on a Soviet America, political church groups, the Communist Party and fanatical Negro revolutionary organizations. This is the well-organized and well-healed pack of Constitutional rustlers that we must head off at the pass. And the pass is clearly marked - 1968. If we botch this one, Constitutional government may well go into eclipse for a 1,000 years and Hitler's dream of a 1,000 year Reich will become a reality but, ironically, it will be managed by one of his former partners in crime - the Red Nazis of Moscow.

So - let's get going - and head 'em off at the pass!!! The time for a new, powerful anti-Communist political party is NOW!

Fall Lawn Beauty Praised

The meeting was called to order by President John W. Davis with George Kirk, secretary, giving a report of the past meetings.

The group discussed winter care of bulbs and shrubs. Open discussion was led by George Kirk. The club in the past years has honored homeowners with a lawn of the month award. They decided to commend several homeowners and business places for their yards and landscaping and fall beauty.

The committee, Davis, chairman, J. Dale Morris, Sharron Pharris and Kirk, called attention to the James V. Shelton yard at 703 Greer, the Hurshel Tanner yard at 810 Pine St., the business firms of Potlatch Forest Inc. and Fabick Bros.

All have symeterical designs with greenery of holly, junipers, yews, spruce. The lawns are of bright green rye grass or sayia. Some also have varieties of color such as mums, scarlet sage and other fall flowers.

Davis said that "Others will be selected for November and December, also, as Sikeston has just as many beautiful fall lawns as summer lawn." He also said that the public should drive around town and look at these yards and firm lawns.

The club also set up the program for six months and listed major projects for 1967.

The main project selected will be Burpee's big pumpkins contest. In this, all boys and girls, 11 through 13 years old, will be given five pumpkin seeds and told to plant and tend.

The December meeting will be for the wives of the members and will have a Christmas theme with a program on Christmas arrangements.

The meeting will be Dec. 15 at the Davis home. Gene Buckles will show slides on flowers.

Spot Cotton Prices Steady

HAYTI -- Spot cotton prices were steady to slightly lower. Demand remained strong for most grades and staples in the 3.5 to 4.9 mike range, and buying was fairly active.

Prices averaged about 150 points above loan rates for most qualities traded on the markets last week. Gin yard prices for cottonseed were firm, and brought farmers from $60 to $65 per ton at the various gin locations.

SIKESTON Telephone Customers...

DEC. 1

Is the day Access Code "1" dialing comes to Sikeston

For all station-to-station Long Distance telephone calls, dial the numeral "1" before the Area Code and the telephone number.

"1"	312	KL	7-2098
(Access Code)	(Area Code)	(Two Letters)	(Five Figures)

The Access Code "1" applies only on station-to-station Long Distance calls. For Long Distance calls other than station-to-station, just dial "O," for Operator, as you do now. She will place the call for you.

REMEMBER — Beginning December 1, please dial the Numeral "1" before the Area Code and telephone number on all your station-to-station Long Distance calls.

Is It Old Fashioned To Jump When A Customer Calls??

A lot of people think so. Is it old fashioned to say "Thank You" or be sincerely appreciated? ? Some say it is.

Well. . . do business with some old fashioned people. We are not old fashioned when it comes to up-dated ideas. We are not old fashioned when it comes to modern insurance coverages but we are as old fashioned as all get out when it comes to appreciating our customers.

You know something. . .We are going to keep it that way. Oh! We are going to buy new office machines...go to every school we can. . .spruce up our office, but we are going to stay old fashioned when it comes to dealing with you.

Our customers like us this way. You should do business with old fashioned people. They will enjoy doing business with you.

Mr. Fortas has three Communist-front affiliations of his own. Do you know how many of the Senate's 32 Republicans voted against this further defilement of the Supreme Court? Three!!! Three out of 32 Republicans had the simple courage to say no! If I sound emotional, I do not apologize for it. I think this is disgusting. The rest of them can't call themselves Conservatives; in fact, they can't even call themselves good Americans. I don't care how much pressure was applied.

MEDICARE

"As goes medicine, so goes the nation" is an old saying. Let me quote to you from Kent and Phoebe Courtney's wonderful little book, Johnson's Republicans. This is a masterpiece: "And what about the Republican performance in Congress regarding the Medicare Bill. Did the Republican Party form a solid wall of opposition, pointing out the dangers of this bill? No. They dreamed up a plan of their own which provided not only for hospitalization, but payment of doctor bills under a voluntary insurance financed partly by the Federal government which, of course, is still socialized medicine. Describing this maneuver, an editorial in the Omaha Evening World Herald said: 'This was to be the Republican way of doing things, not only to out-plar but to out-deliver the Democrats on this particular welfare program.'

"So, what happened? The Democrates merely stole the Republican version of the Medicare bill and added it to their own, leaving the Republicans in Congress to chase the will-of-the-wisp of 'me-too-ism.' "

Sixty-five Republicans voted for the Democrat-sponsored Medicare Bill, including Florida's only two Republican representatives, Mr. Cramer and Mr. Gurney. As goes medicine, so goes the nation, and we've been sold out. Only slightly more than half the Republicans in the House voted against the destruction of the greatest medical system in the history of the world.

THE FREE SOCIETY ASSOCIATION

Now, let's take a quick look at one Barry M. Goldwater. During the initial phase of the mayor's race in New York, Mr. Goldwater was asked what he thought of Mr. Lindsay's running for Mayor of the City of New York and would it be good for the Republican Party? Now, I don't have to tell you about Mr. Lindsay. This is a highly sophisticated audience and we know his pro-Communist record - practically 100 per cent pro-Communist, including trying to get rid of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Mr. Goldwater said that if Mr. Lindsay would only call himself a Republican, he would be good for the Republican Party! Well, not the Republican Party to which I used to belong but, of course, that party died with Robert Taft. Mr. Goldwater is no longer The Conscience of a Conservative, but a conservative who has lost his conscience.

The Free Society Association - I promised I'd come back to that. Did you ever wonder why this organization got so much publicity? It was tremendous. Well, the Free Society Association is a front for the Council on Foreign Relations and Mr. Goldwater is heading up the FSA. The CFR, as you know, is the semi-secret group that works for world government and actually controls both parties. Mr. Strauss is a member of Goldwater's Free Society Association. He is also a member of the CFR; Lucius Clay, CFR; Clare Booth Luce, whose husband is in the CFR; Herbert Hoover, Jr., CFR; george Champion, CFR and so on. Wherever you find Republicans you will find the CFR - and vice versa. So we have another front for the Council on Foreign Relations and Mr. Goldwater is heading it up.

EISENHOWER HEADS G.O.P.?

Recently they had a fund-raising campaign in Ohio. All the big-wigs of the Republican party went into the major cities of Ohio to raise funds for the Republican party. Barry Goldwater was not invited.

Recently, Senator Clark was asked, in an interview, who was the titular head of the Republican party. As you know the man who recently ran for the Presidency on the ticket is supposed to be the titular head. Senator Clark said: Mr. Eisenhower is the titular head of the Republican Party.

The emotional attachment to Senator Barry Goldwater has been great. He stood as our symbol, as our fearless leader, our knight on a white charger. I know of one lady who has only recently taken Barry's picture down from her bedroom wall. Only the other day she tossed away her bespectacled gold elephant lapel pin and, finally, her "Goldwater '64" bumper sticker, with the arrow pointing right, has worn away. It has been replaced by "Support Your Local Police" while she looks forlornly for a new leader - and a new party. It's all very sad and it reminds me of those great lines from a poem by Sarah Helen Whitman:

"Tell him I lingered on the Shore,
Where we parted, in sorrow,
to meet nevermore;
The night wind blew cold on my desolate heart
But colder those wild words of doom, - 'Ye must part,' "

And part we must from a man who has apparently become a Pied Piper for the Council on Foreign Relations and other leftwing elements of his party. We must part from the man and his party and face a grim reality: The reality of a powerful political phalanx composed of labor union czars bent on a Soviet America, political church groups, the Communist Party and fanatical Negro revolutionary organizations. This is the well-organized and well-healed pack of Constitutional rustlers that we must head off at the pass. And the pass is clearly marked - 1968. If we botch this one, Constitutional government may well go into eclipse for a 1,000 years and Hitler's dream of a 1,000 year Reich will become a reality but, ironically, it will be managed by one of his former partners in crime - the Red Nazis of Moscow.

So - let's get going - and head 'em off at the pass!!! The time for a new, powerful anti-Communist political party is NOW!

Fall Lawn Beauty Praised

The Men's Garden club met last Saturday night for its regular monthly meeting.

The meeting was called to order by President John W. Davis with George Kirk, secretary, giving a report of the past meetings.

The group discussed winter care of bulbs and shrubs. Open discussion was led by George Kirk. The club in the past years has honored homeowners with a lawn of the month award. They decided to commend several homeowners and business places for their yards and landscaping and fall beauty.

The committee, Davis, chairman, J. Dale Morris, Sharron Pharris and Kirk, called attention to the James V. Shelton yard at 703 Greer, the Hurshel Tanner yard at 810 Pine St., the business firms of Potlatch Forest Inc. and Fabick Bros.

All have symeterical designs with greenery of holly, junipers, yews, spruce. The lawns are of bright green rye grass or sayia. Some also have varieties of color such as mums, scarlet sage and other fall flowers.

The club planned to mail these persons and firms letters of appreciation for their dedication to lawn beauty.

Davis said that "Others will be selected for November and December, also, as Sikeston has just as many beautiful fall lawns as summer lawn." He also said that the public should drive around town and look at these yards and firm lawns.

The club also set up the program for six months and listed major projects for 1967.

The main project selected will be Burpee's big pumpkins contest. In this, all boys and girls, 11 through 13 years old, will be given five pumpkin seeds and told to plant and tend.

The December meeting will be for the wives of the members and will have a Christmas theme with a program on Christmas arrangements.

The meeting will be Dec. 15 at the Davis home. Gene Buckles will show slides on flowers.

Spot Cotton Prices Steady

HAYTI -- Spot cotton prices were steady to slightly lower. Demand remained strong for most grades and staples in the 3.5 to 4.9 mike range, and buying was fairly active.

Prices averaged about 150 points above loan rates for most qualities traded on the markets last week. Gin yard prices for cottonseed were firm, and brought farmers from $60 to $65 per ton at the various gin locations.

What I'd like to see invented is an automatic choke for backseat drivers.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

(NEA Telephoto)

FORMER Pennsylvania Governor David Lawrence collapsed while attending a rally signalling the end of the 1966 gubernatorial campaign in Pittsburgh Nov. 4 and was listed in critical condition at University-Presbyterian Hospital. Lawrence, 76, was a leading power in national Democratic circles.

GO TO CHURCH SUNDAY

Is It Old Fashioned To Jump When A Customer Calls??

A lot of people think so. Is it old fashioned to say "Thank You" or be sincerely appreciated? ? Some say it is.

Well. . . do business with some old fashioned people. We are not old fashioned when it comes to up-dated ideas. We are not old fashioned when it comes to modern insurance coverages but we are as old fashioned as all get out when it comes to appreciating our customers.

You know something. . .We are going to keep it that way. Oh! We are going to buy new office machines...go to every school we can. . .spruce up our office, but we are going to stay old fashioned when it comes to dealing with you.

Our customers like us this way. You should do business with old fashioned people. They will enjoy doing business with you.

SIKESTON Telephone Customers...

DEC. 1

Is the day Access Code "1" dialing comes to Sikeston

For all station-to-station Long Distance telephone calls, dial the numeral "1" before the Area Code and the telephone number.

"1"	312	KL	7-2098
(Access Code)	(Area Code)	(Two Letters)	(Five Figures)

The Access Code "1" applies only on station-to-station Long Distance calls. For Long Distance calls other than station-to-station, just dial "O," for Operator, as you do now. She will place the call for you.

REMEMBER — Beginning December 1, please dial the Numeral "1" before the Area Code and telephone number on all your station-to-station Long Distance calls.

Movie Special Gets Passing TV Grade

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "Fame Is the Name of the Game" a two-hour motion picture made for initial television broadcast, proved to be very satisfactory viewing in many ways.

The NBC broadcast Saturday night was a bright, slick retread of one of the most familiar plots in movieland. It was of particular interest inside the industry because it may start a trend now that the supply of old movies is running low. After NBC has shown the million-dollar movie several times, it will be released for theater distribution.

The story line was as old as the talkies: The intrepid, wisecracking star reporter who talks back to his boss, confounds the cops and solves the murder. It was spiced with blackmail, illicit love affairs, fights, gunplay and nightclub scenes, but the clothes, the dialogue and the musical score were modern.

Because it was made for television's small screens, there were plenty of closeups and large, busy scenes were avoided. It was designed to fit the time period and to accommodate the breaks for commercials. At no time did the viewer feel that some editor had chopped out an important hunk of plot to make room for a sales pitch.

There were some engaging people, too. Tony Franciosa played the star reporter eager for the scoop as if he had invented the character. Jill St. John, the beautiful blonde temptress, may have telegraphed the windup by her aggressive behavior but she added some zing to the business.

The show must be counted as a successful experiment. It was not a major motion picture, but it was lively, gay and held one's attention to the end. The real name of the game is entertainment — and this one filled the bill.

ABC's "Scope" which has concentrated for almost a year on the Viet Nam conflict, almost timidly showed excerpts Saturday from an off-Broadway protest play, "Viet Rock," violently anti - war and anti- Viet Nam war particularly.

The scenes from the play seemed amateurish and overemotional, but host Howard K. Smith was so nervously eager to disassociate himself with the whole thing he was almost rude to the young woman who had authored it.

NBC's "Pearl Harbor" documentary Sunday was partly a memoir of the attack and, more importantly, a resume of where we are and what we have done since that day. It was a curiously disquieting summary, touching on matters ranging from nuclear terrot to the Beatles, and full of irony and adding up to nothing very exalted except, perhaps the Peace Corps.

Memories Alone Mark Site Of Tragic Nightclub Fire

BOSTON (AP) — The site is now a parking lot. No marker is there to tell the tragic story. But some visitors to Boston still want to see the place where the Cocoanut Grove fire claimed 493 lives.

The Cocoanut Grove night club near Boston's theater district was jammed with more than 1,000 persons, in a space for about 600. It was a noisy, fun-seeking crowd.

Lights went out as the crowd panicked, stumbling and groping for exits. People jammed both sides of a revolving door so it could not move either way. Others rushed to an exit on the other side of the building and piled up against the door. It swung inward and couldn't be opened against the crush.

Alarms brought 14 fire engine companies, plus ladder trucks, rescue squads, civilian defense men, Red Cross plus 400 sailors and Coast Guard men from Boston bases.

Some survivors got out through one side of a double door tugged open by an employe. A few got out through small windows in toilet rooms. Several got out through dressing room windows to an adjoining roof. One group found safety in the club refrigerator.

The investigation that followed the disaster brought indictment to 10 men. Only the owner — Barnett Welansky, an attorney — ever went to prison.

Welansky was convicted of conspiring to violate the building laws and was sentenced to 12 to 15 years. He was ill with cancer when he was released after serving 4 years, and died Jan. 27, 1947.

Movie Special Gets Passing TV Grade

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "Fame Is the Name of the Game" a two-hour motion picture made for initial television broadcast, proved to be very satisfactory viewing in many ways.

The NBC broadcast Saturday night was a bright, slick retread of one of the most familiar plots in movieland. It was of particular interest inside the industry because it may start a trend now that the supply of old movies is running low. After NBC has shown the million-dollar movie several times, it will be released for theater distribution.

The story line was as old as the talkies: The intrepid, wise-cracking star reporter who talks back to his boss, confounds the cops and solves the murder. It was spiced with blackmail, illicit love affairs, fights, gunplay and nightclub scenes, but the clothes, the dialogue and the musical score were modern.

Because it was made for television's small screens, there were plenty of closeups and large, busy scenes were avoided. It was designed to fit the time period and to accommodate the breaks for commercials. At no time did the viewer feel that some editor had chopped out an important hunk of plot to make room for a sales pitch.

There were some engaging people, too. Tony Franciosa played the star reporter eager for the scoop as if he had invented the character. Jill St. John, the beautiful blonde temptress, may have telegraphed the windup by her aggressive behavior but she added some zing to the business.

The show must be counted as a successful experiment. It was not a major motion picture, but it was lively, gay and held one's attention to the end. The real name of the game is entertainment — and this one filled the bill.

ABC's "Scope" which has concentrated for almost a year on the Viet Nam conflict, almost timidly showed excerpts Saturday from an off-Broadway protest play, "Viet Rock," violently anti - war and anti- Viet Nam war particularly.

The scenes from the play seemed amateurish and over-emotional, but host Howard K. Smith was so nervously eager to disassociate himself with the whole thing he was almost rude to the young woman who had authored it.

NBC's "Pearl Harbor" documentary Sunday was partly a memoir of the attack and, more importantly, a resume of where we are and what we have done since that day. It was a curiously disquieting summary, touching on matters ranging from nuclear terrot to the Beatles, and full of irony and adding up to nothing very exalted except, perhaps the Peace Corps.

Memories Alone Mark Site Of Tragic Nightclub Fire

BOSTON (AP) — The site is now a parking lot. No marker is there to tell the tragic story. But some visitors to Boston still want to see the place where the Cocoanut Grove fire claimed 493 lives.

It was a wartime Saturday night 24 years ago today when the fire blazed up at 17 Piedmont St.

The Cocoanut Grove night club near Boston's theater district was jammed with more than 1,000 persons, in a space for about 600. It was a noisy, fun-seeking crowd.

No one is quite sure how the fire started. Something started a chain of fire streaking across the room through decorations.

It took just 13 minutes more to end the lives of hundreds in a chamber seething with fire and lethal gases.

Lights went out as the crowd panicked, stumbling and groping for exits. People jammed both sides of a revolving door so it could not move either way. Others rushed to an exit on the other side of the building and piled up against the door. It swung inward and couldn't be opened against the crush.

Alarms brought 14 fire engine companies, plus ladder trucks, rescue squads, civilian defense men, Red Cross plus 400 sailors and Coast Guard men from Boston bases.

Some survivors got out through one side of a double door tugged open by an employe. A few got out through small windows in toilet rooms. Several got out through dressing room windows to an adjoining roof. One group found safety in the club refrigerator.

Out of the deadly fire came some useful changes.

Doctors learned much in techniques of treating burns.

It produced rules limiting the number of persons in public places.

The investigation that followed the disaster brought indictment to 10 men. Only the owner — Barnett Welansky, an attorney — ever went to prison.

Welansky was convicted of conspiring to violate the building laws and was sentenced to 12 to 15 years. He was ill with cancer when he was released after serving 4 years, and died Jan. 27, 1947.

The Farmers Supply Grocery Co., went on a coon hunt Wednesday night. They started at Jerry Caverno's farm, but the animals had evidently expected the visit as none were to be found. However, good things to eat were taken along and the crowd arrived home nearer 4 a.m. than 3.

"Sikeston will beat Charleston by a close score," according to J. J. White and Coach William E. Mahew's Bulldogs fulfilled the prophecy as they ended their 1936 season triumphantly Thursday afternoon with a 13-6 victory over the Blue Jays. It was the 14th time they have won the annual Thanksgiving day games. The score was the same as in 1934. James H. Lewis paid his bet Friday morning by pushing David Cline to Morehouse in a wheel barrow. A crowd of motorists and bicycle riders watched the slow journey.

ANN LANDERS
Answers Your Questions

Dear Ann Landers: For 25 years I have been married to a woman who has multiple sclerosis, a crippling disease. If I held an 8 to 5 job I could have a fairly easy life, but I would need to hire a companion for my wife. Instead, I arranged things so I am close by and yet not a handmaiden to her. I own and operate a summer camp for boys. In the winter I run a ski lodge.

I'm an active, fun-loving 47 who enjoys mountain climbing, skiing, horseback riding, camping and fishing. I'm becoming frustrated because of what I am missing. I'd give anything to put my arms around a woman and feel the response of her arms around me. I want to walk into a dining room with a woman at my side. I want to dance and swim and hike with a woman who shares my love of nature. I ache for the companionship of a female who can do something with me besides sit.

Is it possible to share such pleasures with another woman without becoming emotionally involved? I doubt it. So what am I to do? What about others who are married to crippled mates? Can you give us some realistic advice? I will sign this letter but please don't use my name. ---SIGNATURE WITHHELD

Dear Friend: It would be easy to respond with pious platitudes but your frankness and honesty deserve better.

Frequently when I lack the knowledge or experience to advise a reader I call on an expert. The expert I have asked to respond to your letter is a Chicago colleague. His answer tells you more about him than I ever could. Here it is:

Dear Mr. ---:

Ann Landers has asked me to answer your letter. I do not have Ann's wisdom, but I do have intimate knowledge of your problem since I have lived with it for 19 years.

There is no universal solution because the needs, the temperament and the personality of each individual differ. A solution that makes sense to me may be totally unacceptable to you.

You say many normal activities are denied you because of your wife's affliction. I hope you have not magnified the importance of these activities merely because you feel you are being cheated. Some men have wives who can dance all night, but they have bitterly unhappy marriages.

Your wife's disability is tragic, but it would be infinitely more tragic if you allowed it to embitter you. Try to think of her misfortune as your opportunity for personal fulfillment. How many people feel truly needed? Well, you are.

If you are frustrated and restless because of the things you are missing I suggest you keep it to yourself. Remember your wife is missing some things, too. I also suggest that you steer clear of "companionable" relationships with other women. Such relationships are difficult --- perhaps impossible --- to control.

The first step in your adjustment is to forget the alternatives. Make up your mind that you will go dancing again when your wife can go with you. Remissions occur. Nothing is impossible. In the meantime take her wherever you can, even in a wheel chair. Keep her hopes alive. Encourage her to exercise and do whatever she can to feel useful. I work with my wife every evening in therapy sessions. She has given me some real lessons in courage.

We all admire maturity, selflessness and compassion but no one is born with these qualities. Circumstances have given you a real opportunity to acquire them. As Ann Landers says, "It's not what happens to us, but how we take it that counts." --- ANONYMOUS, PLEASE

Too many starry-eyed lovers do not know the difference. Do you? Send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry -- Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20¢ in coin and long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa. -- Airman Third Class James C. Sadler, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Sadler of 403 Virginia, Sikeston, Mo., provided essential support to help his organization with the coveted Smith Trophy as the best air defense ground unit in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Sadler is a member of the Air Defense Command's (ADC) 30th Air Division, which received the trophy during ceremonies at Sioux City Iowa, Nov. 19. The airman is assigned at Richards - Gebaur AFB, Mo., as a pavements specialist.

His division, headquartered at Sioux City Air Base and composed of 23 widely-scattered units, maintains air surveillance over the U. S. central plains with the Semi-Automatic Ground Environment (SAGE) radar system.

He and other division personnel won the trophy for the best defensive combat capability during the year by scoring 6,930 of a possible 7,000 points. One phase of the stiff competition included a computer-simulated enemy air attack. It tested the division's operation readiness to detect, identify and, if unfriendly, intercept and destroy approaching aircraft.

The rotating trophy was originally sponsored in 1963 by the Night Fighter Association to promote, through competition, the efficiency of isolated air defense ground units. The award is named for retired General Frederic H. Smith Jr., once deputy commander of ADC and later Air Force Vice Chief of Staff. The 30th, then known as the Sioux City Air Defense Sector, won the first award of the trophy.

Dear Santa

Dear Santa Clause:
I am writing you to tell you what I want for Christmas. I want a car that runs on a track, a walkie talkie, a speedomiter for my bike. Don't forget my sisters and brothers and my daddy, Bill and Mother, Janet. I will go to bed early.

Love,
Gary Storey

Dear Santa:
I am 8 years old and I am in the second grade. I want a Baby Magic for Christmas and anything else an 8 year old girl would enjoy.

Please don't forget all the other little boys and girls.

Thank you.

P.S. Scotty and I will leave you some cookies and milk under our Christmas Tree.

Dear Santa:
I am a little boy, 4 years old. I have been a pretty good boy this year. I could have been better, but it sure is hard.

I would like a football uniform and a football and anything else you think I will like.

Thank you.

Prayer
From The Upper Room

Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect. (Matthew 5:48)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, grant that I may reach great heights of perfection in my service for Thee, that there may be no sin in my life. Thou hast asked me to go on to perfection; help me not to be content with less. Make me perfect in every good work to do Thy will. In Thy name. Amen.

To the Editor:

Would you please print this letter so that your readers can send me the names and addresses of soldiers from your area who are serving in Viet Nam?

My address is:
13 North Pacific
Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701

We support U.S. action in Viet Nam and seek to bolster the morale of our fighting men by having them receive friendly letters from home.

We would like to urge everyone to join with the SEMO Young Republican club in wishing the boys overseas a Merry Christmas.

Sincerely,
Dave McCall

In our organization, there was a young engineer who took advantage of every possible opportunity to endear himself to the boss. Recently, while out of town on a hunting trip, the boss called to check something with our bookkeeper.

Ever alert to the opportunity of being an apple polisher, our young associate piped up, "Ask him if he needs me for anything."

With a straight face, the bookkeeper shot back, "Yes, he wants to know if you can swim with a duck in your mouth."

Many years ago I used to accompany an old timber cruiser on some of his timber inspection trips into the forests of Oregon. On one particular trip, during deer hunting season, we met a hunter who was attired in a red hat, red jacket and red trousers.

The old cruiser, who contended that a red hat made him conspicuous enough, looked this character over from head to toe, spit out a cud of cut plug, and drawled, "Ain't you takin' an awful chance, wearing them black shoes?"

Bohannon Heads New Bank Group

The new "Southeast Missouri Chapter" is NABAC's 215th local unit. The NABAC is an association for bank audit, control and operation.

Officers named at an organizational meeting in the New Madrid Methodist Church are president, Donald R. Bohannon, president, the First National Bank of Sikeston; vice president, William L. Winkler, vice president, The First National Bank of Cape Girardeau; treasurer, Duane S. Michie, executive vice president, Bank of Hayti, and secretary, Thomas H. Kinsey, vice president, Bank of Kennett.

The organization will have six meetings yearly. Speakers will present information on the latest phases and changes in banking.

The NABAC is a banking trade association devoted to the furtherance of bank audit, control, operations, and personnel management. It conducts research, technical and educational programs, convention activity and local activity through chapters located across the nation.

Other member banks of the chapter, showing collectively assets in excess of $106 million are: First State Bank of Caruthersville, The National Bank of Caruthersville, Peoples Bank of Lilbourn, First National Bank of Malden, Bank of New Madrid, State Bank & Trust Company of Poplar Bluff, and Farmers State Bank, Risco.

Prospective students of a new Christian Brothers high school took national placement tests at the school's temporary headquarters, the Most Precious Bloom parish grammar school in Concord, Calif. The principal then shipped all the test papers off to Chicago via air freight to be graded. When TWA called him to report three boxarrived and were being held in the airline's freezers, the Brother asked, "Are they my graded tests?"

"All I know," replied the airlines man, "is that they're labeled 'Most Precious Blood' and we figured we should keep them cold."

One phase of the stiff competition included a computer-simulated enemy air attack. It tested the division's operation readiness to detect, identify and, if unfriendly, intercept and destroy approaching aircraft.

The rotating trophy was originally sponsored in 1963 by the Night Fighter Association to promote, through competition, the efficiency of isolated air defense ground units. The award is named for retired General Frederic H. Smith Jr., once deputy commander of ADC and later Air Force Vice Chief of Staff. The 30th, then known as the Sioux City Air Defense Sector, won the first award of the trophy.

Dear Santa

Dear Santa Clause:
I am writing you to tell you what I want for Christmas. I want a car that runs on a track, a walkie talkie, a speedomiter for my bike. Don't forget my sisters and my daddy, Bill and Mother, Janet. I will go to bed early.

Love,
Gary Storey

Dear Santa;
I am 8 years old and I am in the second grade. I want a Baby Magic for Christmas and anything else an 8 year old girl would enjoy.

Please don't forget all the other little boys and girls.

Thank you.

Love

P.S. Scotty and I will leave you some cookies and milk under our Christmas Tree.

Dear Santa;
I am a little boy, 4 years old. I have been a pretty good boy this year. I could have been better, but it sure is hard.

I would like a football uniform and a football and anything else you think I will like.

Thank you.

Love
Scotty Campbell

Dear Santa Claus;
I would like the whole set of Chearful Tearful, and Suzy Homemaker please. And a thin pink watch band in my stocking. My brother would like a bat phone. My mother would like a hairdryer, my father would like some shirts and pants and my sister would like a swinger camera.

Love,
Judith Ann Clayton

Prayer
From The Upper Room

Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect. (Matthew 5:48)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, grant that I may reach great heights of perfection in my service for Thee, that there may be no sin in my life. Thou hast asked me to go on to perfection; help me not to be content with less. Make me perfect in every good work to do Thy will. In Thy name. Amen.

IT'S OLD stuff to Benny Fox, 76, who has been doing this kind of thing for 65 years, but shoppers in Long Beach, Calif., are impressed as Benny and his daughter, Betty, perform their act on a small suspended platform 11 stories above the street. The sponsors of the promotion had to take out a $1 million insurance policy before the city attorney would let the act get under way.

To the Editor:

Would you please print this letter so that your readers can send me the names and addresses of soldiers from your area who are serving in Viet Nam?

My address is:
13 North Pacific
Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701

We support U.S. action in Viet Nam and seek to bolster the morale of our fighting men by having them receive friendly letters from home.

We would like to urge everyone to join with the SEMO Young Republican club in wishing the boys overseas a Merry Christmas.

Sincerely,
Dave McCall

In our organization, there was a young engineer who took advantage of every possible opportunity to endear himself to the boss. Recently, while out of town on a hunting trip, the boss called to check something with our bookkeeper.

Ever alert to the opportunity of being an apple polisher, our young associate piped up, "Ask him if he needs me for anything."

With a straight face, the bookkeeper shot back, "Yes, he wants to know if you can swim with a duck in your mouth."

Bigotry is the disease of ignorance, of morbid minds. Education and free discussion are the antidotes of both.

Many years ago I used to accompany an old timber cruiser on some of his timber inspection trips into the forests of Oregon. On one particular trip, during deer hunting season, we met a hunter who was attired in a red hat, red jacket and red trousers.

The old cruiser, who contended that a red hat made him conspicuous enough, looked this character over from head to toe, spit out a cud of cut plug, and drawled, "Ain't you takin' an awful chance, wearing them black shoes?"

Bohannon Heads New Bank Group

Eleven southeast Missouri banks have banded to organize a new chapter of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Controllers.

The new "Southeast Missouri Chapter" is NABAC's 215th local unit. The NABAC is an association for bank audit, control and operation.

Officers named at an organizational meeting in the New Madrid Methodist Church are president, Donald R. Bohannon, president, the First National Bank of Sikeston; vice president, William L. Winkler, vice president, The First National Bank of Cape Girardeau; treasurer, Duane S. Michie, executive vice president, Bank of Hayti, and secretary, Thomas H. Kinsey, vice president, Bank of Kennett.

The organization will have six meetings yearly. Speakers will present information on the latest phases and changes in banking.

The NABAC is a banking trade association devoted to the furtherance of bank audit, control, operations, and personnel management. It conducts research, technical and educational programs, convention activity and local activity through chapters located across the nation.

Other member banks of the chapter, showing collectively assets in excess of $106 million are: First State Bank of Caruthersville, The National Bank of Caruthersville, Peoples Bank of Lilbourn, First National Bank of Malden, Bank of New Madrid, State Bank & Trust Company of Poplar Bluff, and Farmers State Bank, Risco.

Prospective students of a new Christian Brothers high school took national placement tests at the school's temporary headquarters, the Most Precious Bloom parish grammar school in Concord, Calif. The principal then shipped all the test papers off to Chicago via air freight to be graded. When TWA called him to report three box arrived and were being held in the airline's freezers, the Brother asked, "Are they my graded tests?"

"All I know," replied the airlines man, "is that they're labeled 'Most Precious Blood' and we figured we should keep them cold."

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Nov. 28, the 332nd day of 1966. There are 33 days left in the year.

On this date:

In 1859, American author Washington Irving died.

In 1944, the Japanese were disclosed to have made strong raids against American Superfortress bases in Saipan in retaliation for B29 attacks on Tokyo.

In 1945, Adm. William F. Halsey Jr. was nominated to the five-star rank of admiral of the fleet.

Ten years ago—The State Department said it had expressed to the Syrian government U.S. concern over what it termed substantial shipments of Soviet arms to that country. The announcement was interpreted as a warning to the Soviet Union to stop its arms shipments to Syria.

Five years ago -- An exclusive interview President John F. Kennedy had granted the editor of the Soviet newspaper Izvestia four days earlier was published. The Soviet organ reproduced the President's words faithfully.

One year ago—South Vietnamese forces moved into position on a devastated rubber plantation near Saigon where the Communist Viet Cong had decimated a government regiment. The battle was called by some the biggest single action of the war up until that time.

WARS AND HARD times are nothing new to 71-year-old Nguyen van Thanth of Saigon, who has been in the transportation business more than 50 years. The Vietnamese started out with a rickshaw and has been going strong ever since. Here he trims his facial foliage while sitting in the vehicle that acts as his home, bed and business.

PILOT

The Dau Tieng airstrip was carved out of a rubber plantation. A Provider should have a 40-foot-wide runway, Nagel said. The Dau Tieng runway is less than 30 feet wide and lined on both sides by mine fields.

Nagel said the airplane was put "badly out of trim" by the passingers running about.

"If we hit with them still standing they would have been thrown all over the aircraft. Intentionally, I nosed it down and dragged it through the tree tops. The first jolt put everybody, including Houck, on the floor.

"We scraped over a rice paddy approaching the strip and I just kept flying it until we ran out of air speed. We hit right on the edge of the runway, the nose gear collapsed and we skidded to a stop about 300 feet down the blacktop.

"It wasn't until we stopped and I started climbing out of my side window exit that I realized I had a passenger sprawled across my lap the whole time we were landing."

Nenninger was treated by an Advance doctor for scalp cuts. Bollinger was charged with careless and imprudent driving and drinking.

The highway patrol reported 49 accidents, 37 injuries and three fatalities in Southeast Missouri during the Thanksgiving holidays, which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Services for Winters will be 2 p.m. Tuesday at Vanduser Baptist church with the Rev. Charles Todd officiating. Burial will be in Forest Hill cemetery at Morley with Jackson Funeral Home in charge.

Born Jan. 18, 1937, at Vanduser, Winters had lived in Florissant 12 years and was employed in the traffic department at McDonnell Aircraft Corporation in St. Louis.

Surviving besides his wife are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Winters, Vanduser; five brothers, Benson and Donald Winters, both of Florissant; Kenneth Winters, Berkeley; Bob Winters, Wichita Falls, Tex., and Ivan Winters, with the air force in Madrid, Spain, and two sisters, Mrs. Geraldine Perry, Charleston, and Mrs. Linda Lou Bryant, Williamsport, Ind.

Percy M. Vied Wyatt, Dies

CHARLESTON -- Percy Martin Vied, 68, Wyatt, died at the Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston at 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

He was born Aug. 24, 1898, at Humboldt, Tenn.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Thelma Vied; three sons, Edsel Vied; Lawrence Vied, Denver, Colo., and Dennis Vied, Pleasant Hill, Calif.; one daughter, Mrs. Russell Gibson, Granite City, Ill.; two brothers, Robert Vied, Battle Creek, Mich., and Raymond Vied, San Francisco, Calif.; three sisters, Mrs. Jessie Cole, Bragg City; Mrs Gertha Hudson, Memphis; and Mrs. Gladys Brown, Caruthersville, and eight grandchildren.

Services will be 10 a.m. Sunday at St. Henry's Catholic church with the Rev. Boscoe Westrich officiating.

Burial will be in Calvary cemetery with Nunnelee Funeral Home in charge.

Grandmother of Resident Dies

FULTON - Mrs. Minnie Cora Holmes, 91, grandmother of Mrs. Herbert Cathey of Sikeston, died Sunday at 11 a.m. in a Fulton nursing home, where she had been a patient three years.

She was born near Fulton Dec. 3, 1874, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee.

VIEWPOINT: TAXES AND INFLATION.

Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri emerged from the White House recently with proposals for a tax increase to curb inflation. Our instinctive reaction to that idea was probably much the same as that of any other private enterprise type taxpayer. But we must admit the senator provided strong evidence that drastic steps of some sort are now necessary.

He mentioned the balance of payments deficit, the continuing outflow of our gold reserves, and the additional burden on the American dollar as we now are trying to keep Britain's "sterling" monetary system from collapsing. He even went so far as to say that unless something is done soon "the dollar might become even more vulnerable than sterling."

It may be significant that he said such things right after a conference with President Johnson. We recall not long ago that we were in great shape because our rate of inflation was less than that of most other countries. We also get the impression, since that mix-up on the airline strike settlement, that Mr. Johnson is willing to take time out to personally announce good news, but often finds it more convenient to let someone else give out with the bad.

We don't mean to suggest that Senator Symington wasn't speaking his own mind on this matter. But some of his remarks did appear, as though he was trying to help the President off the hook of that wage-price guidelines formula which has turned out to be such a flop. Said the Senator from Missouri: "Experience and voluntary restraint has shown that such restraint cannot be expected to work effectively over an extended period. Direct controls on prices and wages should be avoided if possible . . . Expenditure curtailment in certain programs should of course be considered, but the quickest and most effective method would be an increase in tax revenue."

Well, we're "from Missouri" on this one, too. We've got to be "showed" how a tax increase will curb inflation without either a simultaneous curtailment of some federal spending programs or an application of direct wage-price controls. Without the latter, a tax increase would bring immediate demands for wage increases in all major industries, probably including a "cost-of-living" boost of all government employes. Without curtailment of some Federal spending programs there simply is no effective method to curb inflation or strengthen the American dollar.

What'd you expect us to put our Overhead Cam Six in?

Our revolutionary 165-hp OHC 6 is so revolutionary we had to do something special with it. So we made it standard in all Tempests and Le Mans.

We even offer a 215-hp version that makes a lot of big V-8s seem awfully extravagant. Which is why we say, with a 6 like this who needs an 8?

Incidentally, a four-way hazard warning flasher, backup lights, and GM's energy absorbing steering column are some of the safety features also standard in all Tempests and Le Mans. So how can you possibly resist seeing your Pontiac dealer right now?

The Dau Tieng airstrip was carved out of a rubber plantation. A Provider should have a 40-foot-wide runway, Nagel said. The Dau Tieng runway is less than 30 feet wide and lined on both sides by mine fields.

Nagel said the airplane was put "badly out of trim" by the passingers running about.

"If we hit with them still standing they would have been thrown all over the aircraft. Intentionally, I nosed it down and dragged it through the tree tops. The first jolt put everybody, including Houck, on the floor.

"We scraped over a rice paddy approaching the strip and I just kept flying it until we ran out of air speed. We hit right on the edge of the runway, the nose gear collapsed and we skidded to a stop about 300 feet down the blacktop.

"It wasn't until we stopped and I started climbing out of my side window exit that I realized I had a passenger sprawled across my lap the whole time we were landing."
